Park in lake area open to public

By PAT FOLEY

Press-Record Staff Writer
Horseshoe Lake state park planning is alive and well and progressing steadily.

Local business and civic leaders as well as state legislators were given an opportunity to meet with the new director of the Illinois Department of Conservation, David Kenney, Monday during a day-long visit.

Kenney was invited to this area by Henry D. Karandjeff, chairman of the state-appointed Horseshoe Lake Area Commission.

This was the first visit by the department head to the Horseshoe Lake development, which has been spearheaded by Karandjeff and others for over 40 years.

Kenney said the 3,300-acre state park—1,800 acres of land and 1,500 acres of water—is open to the public and that shore fishing is the major initial activity.

About 15 parcels of property, most of them small, remain to be acquired, the group of about 40 was told.

Linked to the gate area on Highway 111 by a gravel road, which is to be paved later, the lake offers a long shoreline due to its horseshoe shape.

Highlight of Director Kenney's visit was an on-site inspection via a chartered bus tour around the perimeter of the lake and the island area.

A brief question-and-answer period was held before the tour to acquaint the guests with latest facts and figures and what has been accomplished thus far.

Three members of Kenney's staff also were on hand to answer technical questions on planning, engineering and management of the state park development.

Don Weathers, in charge of site planning, when posed the question of how many entrances will be provided to the park area, related that the main entrance off Highway 111, which is now being used, is the only access planned for the recreation area.

Weathers also discussed the tentative plans at this time not to include a public beach area, as the level of pollution in the lake might be considered a potential health hazard.

When asked if a public pool could be installed in the area, he answered that the cost of such a pool could be prohibitive. Ed Donahue, also on the director's staff, is in charge of the engineering aspect of the development. Much concern over the depth of the lake was voiced in the questions asked of Donahue.

He responded that studies are being conducted to analyze the effect of dredging, raising the level of the lake and other means of increasing the depth. It was asserted that raising the lake, which has an average depth of 3.8 feet, by just one foot could have detrimental effects on the area, as natural drainage

Records go to grand jury

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents Tuesday morning subpoenaed the purchasing records of the Granite City Street Department since January 1970 for presentation to a federal grand jury in Springfield at 2:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 5.

Two FBI agents entered the city office building at 2301 Adams St. Tuesday morning and showed Assistant Superintendent of Streets

James Stack Jr. a subpoena for the department's records or for the "keeper of the records," presumably Street Superintendent Lionel Portell.

Portell was not in the office at the time and the agents explained to Stack that Sup. Portell would not have to appear before the grand jury, if records of all purchases over $500 since Jan. 1, 1970, were surrendered to FBI agents.

A subpoena also was issued to City Clerk Robert Stevens or the keeper of City Council minutes and records on streets, sewers and sanitation.

Stack remains in his post by authority of the Granite City Council, even though Portell dismissed him as a street department employee Friday, July 8. The council is expected to consider a request by Portell to fire Stack at the July 19 City Council meeting.

It is being contended by some that Portell does not have the authority to fire Stack, since the council created the post of assistant superintendent of streets and concurred in Mayor Paul Schuler's appointment of Stack to fill that position.

On Monday, Portell requested Stack to surrender his keys to the street department pickup truck used by the assistant superintendent and Stack declined to comply.

Meanwhile, an FBI spokesman in Springfield told the Press-Record Tuesday afternoon that he is under instructions to refer all questions about "this case" to Gerald Pines, acting U.S. district attorney, Southern Division of Illinois, Springfield.

Fines would not comment directly on whether the upcoming federal grand jury session is related to a federal probe under way of the actions of various Madison County officials and employees.

He did, however, while discussing the street department matter, note that two special prosecutors have been assigned.

In previous statements, he revealed that the U.S. Department of Justice has approved assigning two special prosecutors to the major Madison County investigation—one from the Tax Division and the other from the Public Integrity Section, Criminal Division, in Washington, D.C.

Fines declined to discuss whether a federal grand jury is to be called in session Aug. 5, or to comment on rumors a jury might be in session this week.

Gregory A. Larner, 19, of Rural Route Two, Box 1028A, Granite City, was fatally injured when his motorcycle and the tractor-trailer truck of Charles E. Hayden, 29, Gary Ind., collided in the 2200 block of West Chain of Rocks Road at 5:08 p.m. Monday.

Mr. Larner was pronounced dead upon arrival at St. Elizabeth Hospital after the accident.

Hayden was issued a ticket for failure to yield the right-of-way while making a left turn. State troopers were told the motorcycle was westbound and the eastbound tractor-trailer turned left into Richard's Towing Service in front of the motorcycle.

The cycle struck the left front corner of the tractor, evidence at the scene indicated.

There will be an inquest. A lifelong resident of Granite City, Mr. Larner attended local schools and was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church.

He had been employed for four months at Granite City Steel.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William (Dorothy) Larner; two sisters, Jeanne Hartnett of St. Louis and Mrs. Stephen (Deborah) Conaway of Granite City; a brother, Jeffrey Larner of Granite City; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Larner of Pittsburg, Kan.

Block proposed marble industry

By MICK STRANGE

Press-Record Staff Writer
Acting on a motion presented by Third Ward Alderman Ronald Grzywacz, the Madison County Council Tuesday night rescinded its action of two weeks ago and upheld a zoning board recommendation not to allow a marble industry in the 1700 block of Edwards Road. About 60 persons were present.

The alderman previously had urged the council to override the board, and it did so unanimously. His mother-in-law owns the building that would have housed the manufacturing activity.

This week's reversal blocks the plant from being established.

Prior to making his motion, Tuesday, Alderman Grzywacz said, "I would like to set the record straight on a few things."

"Meetings have been held and feelings have been hurt," all because a certain person, who does not even live in the Third Ward, has a personal vendetta.

"Had this person invited me to any of their meetings or had invited the realtor or owner of the property, everything could have been settled without the need for the people to hire an attorney or call television cameras here for a show."

"Anyway, overriding a zoning board is nothing new. Our council has done it before and so have the neighboring cities."

"I am not going into the personality or personal motives of this individual. All I want to do is make clear to everyone here that if I had been asked to be at any of the meetings held, I would have attended."

"Next, I want to make it clear that the store building is still licensed as a grocery store and still has some stock, contrary to what some people have said."

"Again, I am truly sorry for this mess that I feel was created by this one individual who does not even live in our (third) ward."

"Having said this, I would now like to make a motion to reconsider the action taken at Hebrews 11:6... he that cometh to GOD must believe... The eleventh chapter of Hebrews is the faith chapter of the entire Bible. Read it for yourself and receive a blessing. Many great men of the Bible are mentioned here. We are told of their stand for God and his righteousness. We are told of their suffering and death. What a privilege to be numbered with them!

However, the key to the great treasures of these heroes is believing. You must believe, if you receive. Believe that God loves you. Believe He wants to save you, to heal you, to prosper you. Mountains will move for us if we can but believe.

If God be for us, who can be against us? Will you believe today? Today.

Stephanie Johnson weds Craig William Sudholt

Trinity United Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Stephanie Marie Johnson, a daughter of Mrs. Gloria Johnson, 2307 West 24th St., and Craig William Sudholt, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sudholt, 1745 Primrose Ave., on July 1.

Arrangements of yellow and white daisies decorated the altar for the 7 o'clock evening double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Paul Bryant.

Miss Beth Potillo presided at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Debbie Collins as she sang, "Sunrise, Sunset," "The Wedding Song," "The Love Story," and "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her brother Dennis Johnson. She wore a formal length bridal gown fashioned of ivory polyester over bridal tulle and complemented with a circular waist length veil of ivory illusion edged with daisy Venice lace motifs secured to a lace encrusted camelot cap.

Venise lace defined the open V-neckline, accented the fitted bodice and formed a decorative trim over the shoulders and at the high rise waistline.

The long sheer sleeves were enhanced with vertical rows of lace, and repeated on the fitted cuffs. Her full skirt and attached cathedral train were encircled with a Venice lace edging. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white daisies, baby's breath and sprigs of ivy.

Matron of honor Mrs. Pamela Murphy, a sister of the bride, chose a full length yellow knit dress designed with short bell sleeves, a Queen Anne neckline and edged with matching Venice lace. The lace was repeated on the set-in midriff to accent the full circular skirt. She carried six yellow roses intermingled with white daisies and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids Mrs. GERALYN Williams, a sister of the groom, Mrs. Jodie Johnson, the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Brenda Kraus and Miss Alice Voss, were gowned in identical yellow dresses.

Mrs. Grandidier, mother of the groom, was attired in a floor length yellow crepe knit dress designed with a high rise waistline and complemented with a yellow floral chiffon cape. She wore a white japhet orchid corsage.

MRS. RITCH GOLDIZEN whose wedding was solemnized at Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church, 25th Street and Ohio Avenue. Formerly Miss Cindy Rea, the bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldin Rea, 3216 Erin Drive.

Miss Cindy Rea marries the Rev. Ritch Goldizen

Miss Cindy Rea and the Rev. Ritch Goldizen of Elmira, N.Y., were united in marriage on July 8 in an evening ceremony at the Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church, 25th Street and Ohio Avenue.

The Rev. Clifton Galibier officiated at the 7:30 service before an altar adorned with bouquets of roses and greenery and burning tapers in spiral candelabra.

Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Eldin Rea, reside at 3216 Erin Drive. The groom is a son of the Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Goldizen, Antioch Road, W.V.

Preceding the ceremony the Rev. Ed Cloninger sang, "The Wedding Prayer," "It's My Desire" and "Whither Thou Goest," accompanied at the organ by Miss Luena Keeton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long organza and Chantilly lace gown enhanced with a mantilla veil of bridal illusion edged with a wide scallop lace border.

Full length lace tapered sleeves, gathered at the wrists with a lace ruffle, were set into a Chantilly lace fitted bodice featuring a high neckline and V-design, also edged with a lace ruffle.

The A-line organza skirt was encircled with a deep gathered lace flounce which fell softly into a cathedral length train. She held a tiffany bouquet of white daisies, white Sweetheart roses, baby's breath and white Elegance carnations.

Miss Becky Rea, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and bridesmaids included Miss Marsha Frost, Mrs. Wanda Crow, Mrs. Janice Tice and Mrs. Kathy Wheaton, a cousin of the bride.

They selected identical blue gowns created with molded bodices, laced with button and snap closing, square necklines and flared skirts.

Each carried an arrangement of blue, white and pink daisies in wicker baskets, festooned with blue streamers.

Milissa Smith, a cousin of the groom, was the flower girl. She also wore a blue bridal satin frock and held a basket of summer blossoms.

Scotty Smith, the groom's cousin, served as the ringbearer.

Jennifer Rea, the bride's sister, and Danny Simmons, a cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. She was dressed in a white satin full length gown and she carried a bouquet similar to the bridal arrangement.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Fred Goldizen. Groomsmen and ushers included Paul Dawson, Mark Brock, Bob Murphy, Jeff Rea, a cousin of the bride, Mark Rea, the bride's brother and Gary Fuller.

After the ceremony guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception held at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall. Members of the wedding party and their families were served a rehearsal dinner at the Sunset Hill campground.

A Granite City High School graduate, the bride also attended the Free Gospel Bible Institute, Export, Pa., for a year.

The groom graduated from Petersburg High School in West Virginia, attended Zion Bible Institute for two years, and graduated from the Free Gospel Bible Institute in Export.

The couple will reside in Elmira, N.Y., where the Rev. Goldizen is serving as assistant pastor of a church there.

$707,955 proposed as GC park system budget

A new 1977-78 budget of $707,955 proposed by the Granite City Park District went unopposed last night during a public hearing on the budget last night and will be considered by the park board at a July 27 meeting.

The board last night approved a request to allow an all-day tennis tournament to be held on two Wilson Park courts July 30
as part of a first annual Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Foundation tennis benefit series of mini-tournaments scheduled at courts throughout the area.

Proceeds will go to support the work of the Foundation and to assist the SIUE Cougar tennis program.

The new budget, a reduction of $32,252 from last year's appropriation, is made up of $415,886 in the general corporate fund, $235,189 in the recreation program and miscellaneous funds and $56,880 in miscellaneous items.

Projected expenditures in miscellaneous funds include $31,000 for municipal portable fund, $23,480 for liability insurance, and $2,400 for the audit.

A Wednesday, Sept. 14, meeting has been arranged for the park district's Engineering Committee to meet with residents and officials of Granite City to initiate an advisory committee to study plans for construction of new swimming facilities at Wilson Park to replace the existing deteriorating pool.

The present swimming facility has failed to pass an Illinois Department of Public Health inspection, which revealed the pool's filtering system is operating below a state minimum standard of recirculating 275,000 gallons of water every six hours.

Price confirms '70
donation of $500

Congressman Melvin Price of this district, the Illinois 23rd, confirmed through an aide
Tuesday that his 1970 re-election campaign fund included a $500 campaign contribution from Tongson Park, a Korean businessman also said to have contributed to more than 100 senators and congressmen.

Price was an occasional "social visitor" to Price's Washington office, but the local congressman doesn't remember him talking about South Korea and also doesn't recall the campaign gift, Bill
Hart, administrative assistant,
said.

A letter appearing to be typed on Price's office stationery and bearing his signature congratulated Park Chung Hee on his re-election as president of South Korea.

Hart said that the 33-year congressman, chairman of the House Armed Service committee, was not a major lobbying target of South Korean officials and citizens.

Mr. Price's position on South Korea has always been the same since the Korean war—he "supports South Korea," the aide
said.

Contributions from foreign nations were legal in 1970.
Price has given the House
Ethics Committee, which he formerly headed, a copy of the letter, said to be similar to that written by many U.S. legislators.

Cong. Morris Udall and other senators also have told of receiving campaign funds from Tongson Park.

Some congressmen are urging President Jimmy Carter to ask for the appointment of a special prosecutor to take over the Ethics Committee's investigation of Korean lobbying.

Communist North Korea last night shot down an American helicopter said to have strayed near the North-South border.

Weber is objecting to the appeal bonds and is requesting that appellate judges either order them held without bond or increase the bonds to $200,000 each. Muelner already has been released on a bond of $3,000 cash and Jenkins needs
$2,500 cash to be freed.

The victims allege nine men raped them on the island Aug. 7, 1976. Five suspects are still at large, Weber said.

Madison County will be well represented by its 4-H club at the Illinois State Fair this year. Winners of trips to the fair were chosen on the basis of their exhibits shown July 7 and 8 at the Annual 4-H achievement days in Edwardsville.

Top honors in flower arranging went to Sherry Bean of Troy who will prepare four arrangements at the State Fair Aug. 12-13 in Springfield. In addition to competing, she will also attend educational classes.

Table covers in both the beginning and advanced categories will be sent for display and judging. Madison County exhibitors in these projects will be Renee DeRousse of Edwardsville in the beginning section and Louise Gorenz of Alhambra in advanced.

This year, for the first time, both a knitted and crocheted article were chosen for State Fair competition.

The knitted entry for Madison County is a pair of slippers made by Julie Foederer of Edwardsville, and Wendy Melloy of Granite City will send a crocheted pillow.

Clothing projects—including beginning and advanced clothing plus tailoring—were judged July 8 on the basis of construction, fit and style.

Winners will model at the State Fair on the afternoon of Aug. 13 and attend classes on Aug. 12-13 are: Lisa DeRousse, Edwardsville; Sharon White, New Douglas; Catherine Malan, Highland; Jean Brees, Troy; and Karen Landmann, Highland.

Two garments will be chosen on the basis of outstanding construction technique. They will also be sent to State Fair for display and competition.

A final clothing category, "You Buy Clothing," emphasizes economical, rational selection of ready-to-wear garments. Shelly Ernest of Pocaehontas was chosen to send her garment as the State Fair entry for Madison County.

Winners were also chosen to attend home furnishing classes at the State Fair. They are Dr. Crossman and Laurie Svoboda, both of Edwardsville.

The five-year room plan exhibit of Dr. Crossman will be sent to the fair for competition and display.

Six 4-Hers will attend food classes at the Illinois State Fair. They were ranked following a contest held in April, but the results were not known until "achievement" days.

Karen Geiger of Alhambra and Betsy James of Collinsville will present their demonstrations on Aug. 13. The other four will be attending classes. They are Margie Bjornson and Evelyn Rogier, both of Highland; Karen Spencer of Granite City and Linda Janas of Collinsville.

Alternates in the various categories were: Foods—Cindy Cornwell, Edwardsville; Anne Bjornson, Highland; Joan Krystofa of Granite City; and Gary Maurer of Alhambra.

Crocheted article—Jeanette Whitworth of Alhambra.

Honec furnishing class—Louise Gorenz, Alhambra, and Cindy Donner, Edwardsville.

Clothing—Janice Craig, Worden; Karen Schmitt, Dorsey; and Janelle Malan and Carmen and Tammy Leroy, all of Highland.

Facts of Faith film at Dewey Avenue Methodist

Demonstrating the unique characteristics of high frequency electricity, Dr. Irwin A. Moon, Director of Moody Institute of Science in Whittier, Calif., fried an egg on a cold stove, makes steel wool burn like paper, neutralizes the effects of gravity on metal rings and even allows a million volts of electricity to pass through his body without being injured.

All this and more is included in the film Facts of Faith to be shown, Sunday, July 17, 7:30 p.m. at Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church, 2133 Dewey Ave., according to the Rev. Eugene Beasley, pastor.

Facts of Faith is one of a series of unusual motion pictures included in the Sermons from Science pavilion of the New York World's Fair and shown around the world in 15 foreign language versions.

Dr. Moon uses these demonstrations to explain what "faith" is, the necessity for a spiritual rebirth and the Christian assurance of the resurrection of the body. Rev. Beasley added.

Dewey Avenue and Trinity United Methodist Churches together are sponsoring this film. Rev. Beasley and the Rev. Paul Bryant invites everyone to attend this special program.

'Jungle' cleanup again Saturday

About 20 volunteers who started a cleanup project in the area known as "hobo jungle" during the weekend were plagued by equipment failures and they resolved to continue the cleanup this Saturday at 8 a.m.

The area is used as a gathering place for groups of youths, some of whom allegedly smoke marijuana, sniff glue and drink beer. It is surrounded by wooded areas, high weeds and other hiding places, making it difficult for police to find anyone when called to a party at the hobo jungle.

The area is near railroad tracks at the end of Wilson Park Lane and the north end of Princeton Drive.

A group of residents has organized the cleanup effort to cut weeds and small trees and to clear out many of the places youths can hide.

Last Saturday's cleanup effort was hampered when a donated brush tractor broke and other equipment failed. Letters are being sent to residents of the area requesting them to donate some time Saturday to aid in the cleanup. Volunteers are to meet at the end of Wilson Park Lane at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Hot dogs and soft drinks will be served at no charge at noon. Those wishing to volunteer in advance are to call Barry Rideout at 876-8698.

Lake park

and other factors could be affected.

It also was mentioned that reduction of water flow from Granite City Steel into the lake could play a role in lowering the lake level.

A reduction from 63 million gallons per day down to 25 million gallons per day has resulted from recycling and operation of the steel company's new third-stage water treatment plant, which was formally commissioned and placed into use last week.

Ramifications of the reduction of flow into the lake are being studied now but it will be at least six months before the full effects can be measured, it was said.

Drainage from the lake and pumping into the river are carried out by the Metro-East Sanitary District.

Also on the tour was Charles Tammings, who explained the role the state will take in the management of the state park.

When asked if the federal government would have a role in the management, Tammings commented that the park would be strictly a state project, with the federal government assisting only in preservation of game and wildlife.

He said the lake will be stocked with a variety of fishes from state fisheries.

After the more than hour-long tour of the lake and recently developed areas — during a steady rain for most of the ride — the group was taken by bus to Charlie's Restaurant for lunch and further questions.

Karandjeff thanked those present for the support they had given him and the commission and then named some of the local and regional people who served on the commission over the years.

During a brief closing comment, Kenney voiced his optimism for further development of the lake area and praised the community for its support of the project.

Karandjeff was given a round of applause when Michael E. Mikoski, works manager of the American Steel Foundries plant, asked for an ovation for "Mr. Horseshoe Lake."

Citizens and officials cited by Karandjeff, chairman and president of the American Heritage Bank of Granite City, were Congressman Paul Simon, Secretary of State Alan J. Dixon, the late Lloyd C. Harris and Ralph T. Smith, Leland J. Kennedy, Ed Lehman, Frank Holten, Dan Costello, Harold G. Baker.

Herbert Bohm, William Boyne, Herbert Esterlein, the late Dr. John E. Lee Sr., Truman W. May, Edwin P. Reiske, Leonard Schwartz, Norman Wright, Clyde Chast, James Holloway, Daniel O'Neill, Harry Briggs, Clarence Stephens and C. H. Sheppard, the latter praised for "40 years of voluntary engineering assistance."

GORDON MacRAE who will appear with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra Sunday for a night of Rodgers and Hammerstein music at the Mississippi River Festival. The program also will feature Joyce Hall.

Warning, MacRae and Daredevils at Festival

The Fred Waring Show, the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra, an evening of Rodgers and Hammerstein music with Gordon MacRae and Joyce Hall, chamber music and the Ozark Mountain Daredevils all are slated during the next week at the Mississippi River Festival, on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Tonight at 7:30, the Distinguished Film Series will feature a 1942 release, "Mrs. Miniver," in Meridian Hall, University Center. Admission will be by donation.

The classic focuses on the impact of war on an upper-class English family. William Wyler directs Greer Garson through her role as a pre-war gadabout to a wartime heroine of emotional strength and dignity.

Tomorrow at 8:30 p.m., the Fred Waring Show will bring Waring's blend of timeless music to the Festival site, with his Young Pennsylvanians and the Waring Blendings.

Currently in his first year of entertaining, Waring brings a show to the MRF that has roots in the Waring Banjo Orchestra begun in 1916 by Waring's brother Tom and drummer Poley McClintock, who still tours with the show.

On Saturday and Sunday, the St. Louis Symphony will appear at the Festival site in a pair of special evenings.

On Saturday at 8:30, percussionist John Kasica will be highlighted with his performance of Heuvel Tircou's "Percussion Concerto," a performance that features two five-minute solos by the percussionist on a variety of instruments.

On Sunday at 7:30, the Symphony will share an evening of Rodgers and Hammerstein with festival patrons.

Gordon Mumford will be conductor and music director for the evening that stars Gordon MacRae and features Joyce Hall.

On both Saturday and Sunday, the annual MRF Regional Arts and Crafts Fair will display items made by regional craftsmen, many of them offered for sale to patrons.

The fair is an annual highlight of the MRF season, offering patrons a chance to watch items being made as well as offering a wide range of items for shoppers to purchase.

Admission to the Arts and Crafts Fair, which will begin each day at noon, is free. The chamber series continues on Monday, July 18, with a special "Young Artists Recital," featuring winners of the St. Louis Symphony's Young Artists Competition and the regional Three Rivers Piano Competition. The chamber music series is presented in Meridian Hall starting at 8:30 p.m.

On Wednesday, July 20, the Ozark Mountain Daredevils and special guest Jimmy Buffet will perform.

The Daredevils are known as one of the top country rock groups in the nation, although the group's music ranges widely from that single category. The Daredevils' biggest hit is "Jackie Blue."

Jimmy Buffet is one of rock musicals top presently with his mix of reggae, calypso and folk music. "Margaretville" is one of his current hits.

Dave Clark to head Post 113

Dave Clark of Madison will be installed Saturday as commander of Tri-City American Legion Post 113 by a past 22nd District commander, Ralph Blumenhour.

The Legionnaires and guest will hold a dinner at 7 p.m. in their building at 1825 State St.

Former GC man designs police flag

Former Granite City Larry McCabe, now a police dispatcher in Lebanon, has designed a flag to honor deceased police officers which has been adopted by the American Federation of Police for use across the nation.

McCabe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nida of Granite City.

In addition to being a police dispatcher, he serves as a part-time deputy marshal. He also is a part-time student in law enforcement at Belleville Area College.

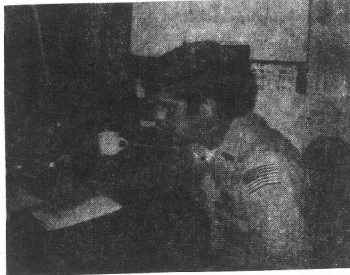

He served seven years in the U.S. Air Force in Vietnam, in Nevada and Texas, and at Scott

Air Force Base, Belleville. The police federation, of which McCabe is a member, is making flags available to families of deceased police officers at no cost.

When a police officer is killed in the line of duty the flag is flown at half-mast below the national or state flag.

It also may be used when a longtime police officer dies of any cause. The flag also may be folded and placed inside the officer's coffin.

McCabe and his wife, Marilyn, have two sons, Christopher Scott and Curtis Lee.

Loud party leads to burglary arrest

Granite City police, responding to a report of a loud party at 2206 (rear) Washington Ave., at 7:40 a.m. Tuesday, arrested four men, including one who was subsequently charged with the burglary of the Weatherlane ice cream shop, 23rd Street and Washington.

Police were called to the 2206 (rear) Washington address on the request of owners who feared that the apartment was being damaged by those at the party.

Officers knocked on the door and a man gave them permission to enter. Police alleged finding four men inside, one lying unconscious on a bed with a large bloodstain under his left hand.

The man, identified as Larry W. Caterson, 18, of 225 Kerr St., was found to have a faint pulse and was barely breathing. Officers said.

Granite City Police was called and attendants brought him back to consciousness. Police alleged Caterson then acted in a belligerent manner toward a police officer. Caterson was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he declined to be treated despite deep cuts to the left hand and forearm.

Caterson then was taken to the Granite City Jail, where he joined the other three men arrested at the party.

Robert E. Young, 23, occupant of that apartment, was charged with criminal damage to property.

Kende W. Mitchell, 20, of 1336 Primrose Ave., and Edward R. Braun III, 21, of 2516 Roney Drive, were charged with disorderly conduct.

Young posted a $250 bond and was released and Mitchell and Braun were released on their own recognizance.

Caterson was charged with disorderly conduct and was held by detectives for questioning. His bond was set at $10,000. He was returned to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 7 p.m. and had surgery administered.

At the Weatherlane, police found the front window broken, with glass and a pool of blood on the ground.

Entry was believed gained by crawling through the broken window. A large amount of blood also was found inside the building. Nothing was believed missing.

After questioning, Caterson also was charged with burglary and his bond was set at $10,000.

Other participants were not required to make the trip to Chicago. They included Sister Isidore Lennon, hospital board chairman; and M. B. Milonski, hospital board secretary.

Those going to Chicago along with Sister Mary Thomas, Mayor Schulz, Clerk Stevens and Hildebrand were Attorney William Schooley and two St. Elizabeth Hospital officials, Frank McGinnis and Jerry Bolands.

In addition to prompt sale of the bonds, the timing was such that "ideal" interest rates were obtained, beginning at 5.1 per cent and rising to seven per cent for the last of the 30-year bond retirements in the year 2008.

Balanced state budget forecast

(Press-Record Springfield Bureau)

The 1977 General Assembly appropriated $10.75 billion for this fiscal year, about $700 million over Gov. James Thompson's original budget request.

Much of the additional money was agreed to by the governor, however, budget director Robert Mandeville reported Tuesday.

Mandeville gave an overview of legislative budget action in conjunction with his quarterly statement on state finances.

"The General Assembly heeded the governor's call for fiscal restraint," Mandeville said.

The state Department of Transportation made up the bulk of the additional appropriations, $430 million, of which Thompson has vetoed $114 million in projects added by legislators.

The remainder includes $120 million reappropriated for construction already under way; $155 million is money to carry out Thompson's agreement with Chicago Mayor Michael Bilandic to build the Crossstown Expressway; $28 million is federal funds that were not appropriated previously; and $12 million added to the local bridge program.

Other budget increases include:

1. $66 million in bond appropriations for Capital Development Board projects. 2. $43 million for the Office of Manpower and Human Development for public works, employment and other programs, all federal money. 3. $18 million for higher education, which will come from higher tuition fees, and $18 million in federal aid given through the state and in funds for special education construction.

A number of small increases in several agencies make up the rest of the $700 million increase.

Mandeville noted appropriations from the state's general fund — the major operating fund — were within one-half of one per cent of Thompson's budget.

The action will mean Illinois budget should be balanced this year for the first time since 1974, he said.

The general fund budget should total about $6.01 billion when Thompson completes action on vetoes, Mandeville said.

About $10 million remains to be cut from legislative appropriations to reach the figure, but he would not specify what areas might be cut.

Mandeville also took the opportunity to snipe at Comptroller Michael Bakalis for what Mandeville called "irresponsible" urging the legislature to appropriate $80 million to $100 million more than Thompson budgeted.

Noting the state had a cash balance in the general fund of only $52 million on June 30, the end of fiscal year 1977, Mandeville said Bakalis "was asking us to go over the edge in fiscal impudence."

The $52 million figure was the lowest since 1962 — when Illinois had no income tax — and represents only about two days' worth of state spending, Mandeville said.

Income tax revenues in fiscal 1978 should increase slightly, he said, but will be offset by drops in other state income, such as lottery proceeds.

Lottery Superintendent William W. Carlson reported in Chicago that the lottery netted the state $48.7 million last year, down from $75.9 million in fiscal 1976.

He attributed the reduction to complicated lottery games and to a three-year slump common to lottery games in other states.

Howard Fisher dies at home

Howard Fisher, 66, of 1226 Douglas St., Venice, was pronounced dead at his home at 12:40 p.m. Tuesday by William Sternberg, Madison County deputy coroner.

Mr. Fisher had visited a niece in St. Louis last Thursday. He said then that he was not feeling well, and went back to his home.

She had not heard from him since that time, and came to his home Tuesday to check on him.

When she could not gain entrance, she called Venice police, who forced open a door and found Mr. Fisher lying on the bathroom floor.

He apparently died of natural causes, authorities said.

Funeral arrangements are pending at an East St. Louis funeral home.

Arrest protest

Relatives of Franklin Sanders, 20, of 22 Briarcliff Drive, have objected this week to Sanders' arrest during the weekend and the way in which Granite City detectives took him into custody.

They allege that police broke into the house without a search warrant, did not read him his rights, handcuffed him too tightly and threw him in the back of a police car.

Threats of prison were voiced and the arrest was made without sufficient reason to believe he was involved in anything, the relatives said.

They also objected to a $750 bond set by a judge, contending it was excessive for a theft charge when Sanders had no felony record.

A woman also objected, saying she was denied the right to see Sanders and had to talk to him through a steel door. A high-ranking officer also used foul language toward her, she said.

Police responded that the theft charge was on a warrant issued after three juveniles alleged selling six coffee-makers and a lamp to Sanders. Proper procedures were used during the arrest, the officers contended.

Dam repairs

Repair work on Lock and Dam No. 25 on the Mississippi River at Winamac, Mo., will be started soon with award of a contract issued by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Bids were opened at the office of the Corps' St. Louis district by Joseph H. Bisher, acting chief of the Procurement and Supply Division. Apparent low bidder for the work was the Judy Co. of Kansas City, Kan.

Lowest of three firms with a bid of $1,245,077.

The work is expected to require eight months and will consist of drilling grout holes, checking borings and exploratory and instrumentation holes, casing and sealing the grout materials into voids beneath the dam structure, and leveling and patching the drilled holes.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID BROWN. They exchanged vows in a ceremony at the City Temple. Formerly Miss Paula Elaine Fuller, the bride is a daughter of Mrs. Joyce Fuller, 2436 Roney Drive, and the late Paul L. Fuller.

Miss Paula Fuller and David R. Brown are wed

Miss Paula Elaine Fuller became the bride of David R. Brown in an evening candlelight ceremony on July 2 at the City Temple, 1917 State St.

Arrangements of white gladioli and blue baby mums adorned the altar flanked by branched candelabra holding burning tapers for the 7 o'clock double ring service performed by the Rev. Eugene Cope, assisted by the Rev. Billie Simmons.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Joyce Fuller, 2436 Roney Drive, and the late Paul L. Fuller. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Brown, 2828 East 28th St.

Mark Cox presided at the organ and also sang, "Sunrise, Sunset," "If," "Evergreen," "You Are the Sunshine of My Life" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and given away in marriage by her brother, Paul L. Fuller Jr., the bride chose a white Queen lace sleeve gown styled with a high neckline, gathered to the diamond yoke on the Empire bodice, and enhanced with floral Venice lace motifs embroidered with pearls.

The full circular skirt fell softly into a chapel train.

A profile hat of white Alencon lace re-embroidered with pearls secured a white chiffon hand rolled edge fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses, baby's breath and greenery, festooned with white ribbon streamers.

Honor attendant Sherri Scrum and bridesmaids Linda Peterson and Pamela Brown, a sister of the groom, wore blue polyester-jalter styled gowns complemented with chiffon floral print jackets with angel sleeves.

Their bouquets were composed of three white roses, sprigs of baby's breath and greens, tied with blue streamers.

Robert VanWinkle attended the groom as best man. Jeff Brown, a cousin of the groom and Chett Fetter were groomsmen.

Serving as ushers were Steven Fuller and Michael Brown, brothers of the bride couple.

Mr. Robert VanWinkle attended the guest book at a reception held at the banquet hall of the Barrel Restaurant.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Fuller selected a full length orchid chiffon gown fashioned with a draped bodice and long sheer sleeves. She carried a lavender cymbidium orchid on her purse.

Mrs. Brown, mother of the groom, chose a coral and beige chiffon dress designed with cape style sleeves to the elbow. Her purse corsage was made up of golden cymbidium orchids.

A Granite City High School North graduate, the former Miss Fuller is currently working as a unit clerk at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

The groom is a South High School graduate and is employed as a machinist at Emerson Electric Co., St. Louis.

They are residing in Granite City.

WHAT WILL BE THE OUTCOME OF THE ARAB-ISRAEL WAR?

THIS IS THE THEME OF A FULL SERMON BY . . .

C. M. O'GUIN
PASTOR
TRINITY
TABERNACLE
2000 E. Sixth St., Madison
SUN., JULY 17
AT 7:45 P.M.

C. M. O'GUIN, Pastor

In his announcement the pastor said we are on the fringes of this war now. The whole Arab world is united for the destruction of little Israel. Can the flames of this war do what Pharaoh, Alexander and Hitler failed to do? What are the "sparks" covered in this movie? This area is the richest on earth. Two thirds of the world's oil supply is there. The wealth of the Dead Sea alone is placed by Scientists as three trillion dollars. Last minerals and plastics are stored there. The dynamic Hebrew prophets have foretold all about it. Now hear the focus occurring in this generation. The Bible gives the answer. The public is invited.

State seeks part of proposed U.S. tax to offset its loss from gasoline cutback

A proposal by Gov. James Thompson to rebate to the state a share of the proposed federal "wellhead tax" on oil was presented to the National Governor's Conference during the weekend in Washington.

His proposal would mean $115 million a year in new revenue for Illinois.

California's share in new revenue would amount to $192 million.

Thompson is advocating a return to the states to 25 per cent of the tax revenues remaining after individual rebates.

The House Ways and Means Committee has determined that individual tax rebates would have first claim on the estimated $2.7 billion that would be generated by the tax in its first year.

But Thompson says the committee has left open what would be done with the $12.7 billion in average annual revenues expected to be generated in succeeding years.

Under his proposal, $2.7 billion would continue to be earmarked for individual rebates, but $2.5 billion would be allocated for rebates to the states.

That would leave $7.4 billion available to the Carter administration for a variety of uses, such as added tax rebates, tax reform, energy research and development, coal development and mass transit and rail programs.

Thompson outlined the idea to Transportation Secretary Brock Adams, Presidential Energy Advisor James

Schlesinger and Stuart Eizenstat, assistant to the President for domestic affairs and policy, in brief meetings at Washington.

They took the proposals under consideration, without making any commitments.

The governor didn't attend the conference, his proposal was presented to fellow governors in a letter.

Thompson notes that a major objective in Mr. Carter's energy program is to reduce the rate of increase in gasoline consumption.

"While this is a necessary and wholly meritorious national objective, it could have severe impacts on state and local governments, which depend on gasoline tax revenues to support a variety of programs ranging from education and energy conservation research to road repair and rehabilitation," Thompson said.

"It seems fair, therefore, that a portion of those proposed federal taxes — whose primary aim is to reduce petroleum consumption — should be returned to state and local governments to compensate them for their gasoline tax revenue losses."

Thompson said his proposal would funnel more funds into the economy. If the full $2.5 billion were spent on road rehabilitation and maintenance, the program would create 277,000 jobs, he said.

The Illinoisan said motor fuel taxes are 38 per cent of the non-federal funds available for road rehabilitation and maintenance, but that the growth rate of such revenues has been halved since the Arab oil embargo of 1973.

A spokesman for the American Petroleum Institute said the average rate of increase in gasoline consumption dropped from 5.2 per cent nationally and 4.4 per cent for Illinois in the 1962-73 period to 1.7 per cent nationally and 1.3 per cent for Illinois in the 1974-75 period. But the rate of increase is again on the upturn. It was 5.2 for both Illinois and the nation in 1976.

The national rate of increase for the first five months of 1977 was 3.3 per cent and, for May, 4.7 per cent.

The rate is expected to increase in the summer months, when more motorists take to the road.

Gov. Thompson earlier considered proposing an increase in the state gasoline tax as a means of meeting rising highway construction and maintenance costs, but decided against it.

Tourists going underground in area of Capitol

By ROBERT ESTILL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

It's entirely possible Judge Joseph Crater really isn't missing. It may well be that the New York Jurist, famed for his disappearing act, has been wandering around in a tunnel under the nation's capitol since 1930.

For those lacking the instincts of a homing pigeon or the nose of a bloodhound, this is a great city for getting lost.

Freshmen Congressmen, tourists and new residents and employees share the common bond of disorientation.

Visitors and new arrivals can minimize confusion if they make one of their first stops at information kiosks conveniently located near the Capitol, the White House, the Washington Monument, the Lincoln Memorial and the Smithsonian Institution.

At each kiosk, the National Park Service provides trained personnel to answer questions and distribute (without charge) well-detailed, easy-to-read maps of the central portion of the District of Columbia.

Armed with the map, the tourist should have little trouble finding his way to major points of interest as long as he sticks to surface routes.

The problem begins when the tourist decides to go to "The Hill" to see Congress "in action" or to visit at his congressman's office.

And a visit to the congressman's office to obtain a gallery pass is a "must" if one wants to observe proceedings in the House or Senate chambers without taking a guided tour. It can be harrowing if the visitor is venturesome and tries one of the subterranean shortcuts.

Pedestrian tunnels link the Capitol with the Dirksen and Russell Senate Office Buildings, the Rayburn, Cannon and Longworth House Office Buildings, and two annexes used primarily by staff.

Electrically-powered cars also travel underground, shuttling Capitol travelers the 620 feet to the Russell Building, the 1,098 feet to the Dirksen Building and the 600 feet to the Rayburn Building in a minute or less.

Each car seats 18 passengers and an operator and is open to the general public except during quorum calls, when it is reserved for congressmen rushing to cast a vote.

Capitol regularly use tunnels and subways because they provide shorter routes, are cooler in summer and warmer in winter, and are less congested with tourists than surface routes.

David Sellin, curator of the Capitol for the architect's office, encourages visitors to explore the Capitol on their own in addition to the guided tours, but is cautionary about the caverns.

"I'm not denigrating the guided tours, but the visitor also should take some time and poke around on his own," he advises. But Sellin warns against the masses becoming mole-like: He says the tunnels and subways are "for the curious minority, not the crowds."

Those who try the labyrinth risk emerging in an underground parking lot or the wrong building.

If they do get the right building, they're still not home free because the office numbering systems vary by building.

And elevator riders trying to get out may not find it any easier because the street level may be marked "G" for ground level and "1" for first floor at opposite ends of the same building. Fortunately, there are Capitol policemen stationed about every 50 feet in the buildings, and they're accustomed to dealing with the bewildered and bemused.

"Many people get lost in here," asked the reporter. "Only about two million a day," replied the weary guard. "Make that two million and one."

Bill's team defeats unbeaten softball nine

Bill's Auto Body women's softball team beat previously undefeated Sammy's Tavern 8-7 last night at West Granite Park, forcing yet another contest to decide a champion team of the Granite City Park District-hosted Class A slow-pitch tournament which began on July 5.

The journey's championship game is set for ten o'clock tonight at the West Granite field.

Which team emerges victorious tonight — Bill's or Sammy's — will determine final pairings in the women's Class A state tournament which gets underway Saturday at Monticello, Ill.

Sammy's had advanced into the title game of the tourney here with a 1-0 win over State Farm Insurance on July 6, but had to await a winner from the lower bracket comprised of squads which had suffered a first loss.

Bill's, which suffered a 2-1 loss to State Farm on July 6, then defeated Apple Valley 13-2 the next day before rains in the lower bracket prevented further competition until early this week.

Results:

SUNDAY, July 10
Bill's Auto Body 10, Clean-Craft Cleaners 8 (WP Lado Van, Triples by Beth Thomas, Gina McFarland, Kathy Celik).

MONDAY, July 11
Bill's 3, State Farm 0 (WP

Lado Van, Triples by Diane Becherer).

WEDNESDAY, July 13
Bill's 8, Sammy's 7 (WP Lado Van, Triples by Rose Harolan, Stacey Horton, Kathy Leik for four at the plate).

Both Bill's and Sammy's are insured of berths in the state meet as possible first and second-place teams from the tourney here.

State Farm is in the competition at Monticello as the third-place team. The local Elks Lodge advanced past the Granite City district as the defending state champion.

State Farm will play the Jacksonville district champion at Monticello on Saturday at 2 p.m.; the winner of tonight's Bill's-Sammy's game will play Morris, Ill., Saturday at 3 p.m.; and the Elks are set to compete against Rockford, Ill., Saturday at 4 p.m.

3 contenders in Inter-City; B stars win

Pressure is still on the three ball clubs leading the Illinois Inter-City Baseball League, with four weeks of regular season play remaining before league playoffs start next month.

Doubleheaders, all starting at 1 p.m., are on tap Sunday for the eight participating squads — Memorial Mortuary at Highland-Pierron, and Mitchell vs. Mercer at Wilson Park.

Players of each team received more of an insight into opponents' playing abilities after having teamed with them last night in the league's annual all-star contest held at Pierron Field.

Divided into A and B teams — Vans, Mitchell, Brewers and J&J players comprised the A squad, and Mercer, Panama, Thomas and the hosts comprised the B squad.

The all-star contest went 10 innings before the B squad won 8-7 with Granite City's Kirk Champion of Mercer's at bat.

The team held a 7-2 lead going into the ninth frame, having scored four runs in the fourth, two in the fifth and one in the sixth inning.

But a five-run rally by the B squad in what was to have been the final frame, including a game-tying single by Pierron's top spot, forced an extra inning.

Mercer's Bob Hughes provided the B team's runs in the second with a two-run homer.

Jim Greenwald of Mercer decided the game with a run-scoring sacrifice fly in the 10th frame while the bases were loaded.

Bob Lions of Pierron was named most outstanding batter, hitting four for five at the plate, all singles.

League standings as of today: Vans 16-3, Mitchell 15-4, Mercer 14-5, Brewers 8-10, Thomas 7-11, Panama 7-11, Highland-Pierron 5-13 and J&J 2-16.

RECORD OLIN PROFITS
Olin Corporation yesterday reported that second-quarter profits increased 11 per cent to $27,776,000, equal to $2.31 a share. This was a record second-quarter high and compared with $25,020,000 or $2.10 a share, in the same 1976 period.

Net sales were $387,114,000, a three per cent increase from $375,999,000 in the same quarter last year.

American Legion's division baseball championship won by Tri-City Post

Tri-City American Legion Post 113's ballclub, managed by Conrad "Babe" Champion, is the undisputed season champion team in North Division standings of District 22 American Legion League competition heading into next week's district playoffs here at the GCHS South diamond (Felling Road curve). Almost all scheduled contests this week were postponed due to wet diamonds.

But a brief break in weather conditions last night enabled Alto to defeat Highland 1-0, resulting in both teams having seven losses with only two contests remaining this week.

Tri-City, with a 13-2 record, sat idle all week as weather conditions forced postponement of a game Monday at O'Fallon, and a game here yesterday with Collinsville.

Playground centers prepare for Olympics

More than 150 multi-colored balloons will fill the air over Wilson Park's diamond eight the evening of Tuesday, July 26, starting the annual Granite City Park District's summer Olympics.

Athletes representing each of seven playgrounds will compete for season-ending honors at the event.

The seven playgrounds, sites of competition for the past three weeks, are: Lincoln Place Community Center and Logan, Niedringhaus, Webster, Nameoki, Wilson and Parkway Schools.

The July 26 ceremonies will open with all pledging allegiance to the flag, followed by the athletes reciting in unison the Olympic oath and then lighting a symbolic torch. Winners of the events are to be awarded points and ribbons for their achievements, and each of three playgrounds earning the most points out of the seven competing will receive a trophy from Nancy Polson, recreation director.

One more week of the program's regular competition at each playground remains, starting Monday, July 18, with hoopball and continuing with softball games, all starting at 1 p.m. each day except on Wednesday, July 20. On Wednesday, the park district is sponsoring an excursion on the Admiral river boat for the athletes.

Transportation will depart from each playground site at 8:30 a.m. and return there at about 4 p.m. July 20. Each athlete will be required to pay $2.00 to defray expenses, and each is to be urged to carry a lunch or sufficient funds to purchase food and refreshments. Playground supervisors will serve as chaperones.

Recent activities included hula hoop competition at six playgrounds.

Winners were: Nameoki — Maria Bernalis, girls mites, Michelle Rogier and Carolyn Friedel, tied among girls midgets, Angela Rozovsky, girls juniors, Marc Varady, boys mites, Adam Schneider, boys midgets, and Alan Prengel, boys juniors.

Webster — Dawn Kostoff, mites, Stacy DeWitt, midgets, Penny McGinness, juniors, Mike Kraus, mites, Frank Seidler, midgets, and Steve Terrell, juniors.

But to the many who would not dream of eating one, others say, "You don't know what you're missing." Here, an Illinois fisherman drags for cat.

Mr. uly makes a tasty dish

By JEFF NELSON

Imagine growing up in a section of Illinois where common belief held that catfish was not fitting food. I grew up in the Fox River Valley within walking distance of the river, with its headwaters at the Chain O'Lakes near the Illinois-Wisconsin border and which empties into the Illinois River at Ottawa.

It's a pretty river, running in a true valley, tree lined all the way, through Illinois prairie land up north and finally between bluffs housing pure, white silica sand near Serens and Wedron.

As Illinois Rivers go, it's a fairly fast river, rocky bottomed and bounding over low dams at nearly every community. Those same communities have dumped their wastes into the Fox through the years — the biggest towns are Aurora and Elgin — but the river has managed to survive.

The Illinois General Assembly has seen fit to include the Fox in its scenic rivers bill and each spring, on Memorial Day, the river hosts the Great American Canoe Race, running 23 miles from South Elgin to Aurora and drawing hundreds of participants from all over the United States and Canada.

The Fox is a small river, but it is a big river. It is a river that has a reputation for being a "tasty" fish. No, the young fisherman would gather everyone he knew within shouting distance as witnesses for later fish stories, and then give the fish away or eat it for a dinner or supper if he could.

The only takers were old poor people — who generally refused to "buy" the fish — or blacks, who invariably offered, "Give you a quart for that fish, sonny," if it were big enough.

It was base, primitive snobism. It's taken all these years to learn that the joke was not on those to whom we gave or sold the fish, but on us. Not until moving to Springfield did I ever have a taste of catfish, or carp, and all I have to say to those who stayed behind is, "You don't know what you're missing."

Catfish are an unpopular fish because they are ugly and have a reputation for being mud-slurping, garbage-eating, bottom-scrounging scavengers. Catfish grow big — as great as 150 pounds in some sections of the United States and 500 pounds in Europe, southeastern Asia and South America. They like the bottom and dark, out of the way places like the backwash of dams and deep cut river banks (and in recent years, submerged barrels and junked automobiles) where the water is quiet and clean and near fast current.

Oh, there were some big fish in the Fox and the small and younger the fisherman, the bigger and more monstrous the fish.

A young fisherman lucky enough to land one of these monsters never took the catch home. Mothers would turn the cooking one of "those" fish. No, the young fisherman would gather

Scuba course to start at YMCA

The National YMCA certified course in scuba diving will be offered, starting Sunday, at the Tri-City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave. It was announced this week by Don Rains.

To qualify for the instruction, a prospective participant is required to demonstrate he or she is comfortable in the water and has a basic swimming ability.

The course, lasting about eight weeks, will be taught on Sundays, between the hours of 5 p.m. and 9 p.m. The initial session will be this Sunday.

In addition to the adult participants, youngsters from 12 to 15 years old may take part and obtain their junior diver's certificate.

The instructor will be Phil Deming, who said certifications upon successful completion of the course will include YMCA, FAOI and AHA, plus the national NAVA certificate.

YMCA members will pay $50 each to take the instruction, while nonmembers will pay a fee of $65. All diving equipment and textbooks are furnished, Deming said.

Further information is available from Rains at the YMCA, 876-7200, or Deming, at 3-94-3243.

Beary entered the event with 88 points and gained 12 more for his runnerup finish.

Trailing the two in the point standings are Poovey, Ruest, Thompson, Simmons, Guy McClure and David Rush.

McClure, defending point champion, has not been able to complete since suffering a broken leg two weeks ago in a racing mishap here.

Eliminary heat race victors were Jones, Beary, Brov, Ruest and Poovey, Semifinal races went to Jones, Beary, Ruest and Brov.

Handicapped racer to drive hydroplane

There is an unusual handicap for one of the competing hydroplane drivers. Ruest, a handicapped man, will be driving the hydroplane.

In hydroplane racing, the driver must kneel to provide a balance between man and boat, through tight turns, while holding on with only his hands to resist the pounding of the waves. But one driver only has the hand to hold on with.

Phil Howard lost one hand at his dry cleaning business which he had to hold on with hydroplanes. While most people wouldn't even drive a car with only one hand, he races boats and is good at it.

For 1976, he was a runner-up at the world championships, gained fourth place at the 1977 Nationals and was the west divisional champion.

Howard has been in hydroplane racing for 20 years and has won at Jacksonville, Ill. He and other top national drivers will be competing at the 1977 Lake Michigan Lake hydroplane races.

The races are sponsored by the Granite City Kiwanis and any member may be contacted for further information.

Elks girls win tourney
The Granite City Elks Lodge girls' softball team won five straight contests during the weekend, taking top honors, a tournament held at Joplin, Mo. Hurier Diane Curtin received little rest in the tourney, pitching in every game.

Mrs. Curtin pitched a two-hitter Saturday for the first win, a 1-0 shutout win over the hosts, aided by Cindy Worthen's two homers.

On Saturday afternoon, Miss Worthen blasted another homer in helping her team win 7-5 over another Joplin squad, and later that day the Elks nipped Ozark Athletic Club 4-3.

On Sunday, the local nine beat Missouri state champions 9-0 behind a three-hitter by Mrs. Curtin, and then downed Springfield, Mo., 7-5 in the title contest in which Robin Deterding provided a triple.

University accepts Asia, Africa books

A contribution for the archives of Lovejoy Library at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been received from the estate of Dr. Waldo E. Stephens, an Oklahoma City oilman, by Dean Vaughn J. Lindsay of the SIUE Graduate School.

The gift includes nine cartons of books and two five-drawer file cabinets of materials on developing countries, with special focus on Africa and Southeast Asia.

Dean Lindsay noted, "These papers and books from his private library are valuable research sources and will contribute to our current efforts to improve our data base in international studies."

She said the gift is especially timely in view of the university's effort toward developing an international dimension that was given impetus in January when Ralph W. Ruffner, senior vice-president for planning and review and acting president, established an International Studies Committee.

Dean Lindsay added that there is growing emphasis among some of the SIUE faculty on international research, particularly in Africa and Southeast Asia.

"Dr. Stephens' influence and wide-ranging expertise stretched from Oklahoma to the corners of the globe," she said.

"An authority on international affairs, he served as a professor at Columbia University, a radio and television commentator in Oklahoma City and an advisor to state and national leaders."

"As president of Wick Oil, Inc. and executive vice-president of Esperanza Oil, Inc., Stephens was able to enlist the assistance of major corporations in support of humanitarian projects. Concerned with the problems of developing nations, he devoted the last years of his life as a consultant to the Southeast Asian Ministers of Education Organization (SEAMEO)."

"SEAMEO is responsible for the development of six regional centers in advanced studies to train a core of leaders with the diverse skills and professional competencies essential to economic and social development. Each university is located in a separate country and deals with a single area of educational emphasis."

"Dr. Stephens had impressive credentials to support his analyses of world situations. He represented the United States at international conferences on three continents. In the 1960s, he served as an advisor on Africa. From 1967 to 1975, he was advisor to the U.S. Regional Economic Development Office in Bangkok."

"In 1968, he was appointed by the State Department as a delegate to the United Nations Economic and Social Council's 47th Session in Geneva. Two years later, he served as a delegate to the Economic Commission for Asia and the Far East at its 26th Session in Bangkok. He also visited all the nations of Southeast Asia, meeting with national leaders."

"For his services to the state of Oklahoma, he was elected to the Oklahoma Hall of Fame and was presented the Service to Mankind Award."

mind about the actual ownership of the television set.

While such officers are as entitled to their individual rights and to the "benefit of the doubt" as much as any other citizens, the whole question of whether a charge should be filed remains a highly sensitive one.

Political ramifications inevitably result from such decisions. And there is a considerable segment of the public which vocally insists that there be no "double standard" in which a law officer is treated less harshly than a non-officer.

Jane Matoesian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Andreas Matoesian of Granite City, arrived during the weekend at The American University campus to attend the 31st annual American Legion Auxiliary-sponsored Girls Nation program.

The week-long national youth citizenship program at Washington, D.C., opened its government training with convocation and community meetings during the first evening session. Girls Nation is conducted after the Auxiliary-sponsored Girls State sessions, most of which were held in May to July in each state and in the District of Columbia. From each Girls State, two "senators" were selected to represent their constituents at Girls Nation.

"Senator" Matoesian attends high school in Granite City.

She comments, "My emotions can only be expressed in terms of great surprise and honor."

"To be selected to represent Illinois at such a prestigious Girls Nation gives me a great sense of pride and dignity."

Girls Nation functions as a prototype of the federal government in which the senators become members of mock political parties, the "Nationalists" and the "Federalists."

Girls Nation senators will organize into committees, caucus, debate and act on bills, hold party conventions, hammer out "platforms," nominate candidates for president and vice president, campaign and hold elections.

Highlights during the week include visits to the Capitol, the White House, the Supreme Court, the Department of State, the Pentagon, Arlington National Cemetery, Mount Vernon and other national shrines.

Mrs. Paul Brown of Filer, Idaho, national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, delivered the main address on Monday.

The Girls Nation director, Mrs. Robert Melgard of Redwood, Calif., said, "The overall purpose of the Girls State and Girls Nation

'Democracy in Action' programs is to stimulate and arouse those participating to become actively involved in their own communities by putting into practice what they've learned—that each individual can have a voice and vote in our system of government."

Commemorative exercises will be held on Friday, with departure on Saturday.

Joseph Martyniw succumbs

Joseph Martyniw, 58, of 1544 Fifth St., a lifelong resident of Madison, died at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

He had been employed as a millwright for 32 years at Granite City Steel.

Mr. Martyniw was a member of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church and also the Steelworkers union, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300 and Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307. He was a World War II Army veteran, receiving the Purple Heart.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Rose (Ostrowski) Martyniw; one son, Joseph H. Martyniw of Madison; his mother, Mrs. Anna Musiala of Madison; and one sister, Mrs. Rose Babo of St. Louis. Another sister, Mrs. Catherine Heine, preceded him in death.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Car hits post

Robert Lee Clutts, 24, of 1640 E. 23rd St. was injured when he lost control of his auto in the alley between the 2200 blocks of Grand Avenue and State Street at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and the car struck a utility pole, breaking the pole in half.

Clutts was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was x-rayed and then admitted with injuries to his back and neck.

STEAL, BURN BOAT
The 16-foot runabout boat of Tony Sodl, 1600 Lindell Blvd., was stolen from his home along with the trailer and 70-horsepower motor between 1 a.m. and 9 a.m. Tuesday and was found at 9:30 p.m. Tuesday by Illinois state troopers near Washington Park. The boat had been destroyed by fire.

Big Downstate road program in 1978-79 —Thompson promises

Governor James R. Thompson has signed into law the $2-billion 1977-78 fiscal year budget for the Illinois Department of Transportation, it was announced yesterday.

The budget for the fiscal year running to June 30, 1978, includes $1.5 billion for state and local road improvements, $250 million for public transit, $34 million in state and federal dollars for airports and $13,800,000 for waterway projects.

The governor approved increases from the original budget plan for additional work in the statewide road program under the Crosstown agreement reached earlier this year.

Increases amounting to $155 million will permit the state to use federal funds available by dropping plans for the north leg of the proposed Crosstown Expressway.

Additional federal funds are earmarked for a comprehensive street improvement program in the Chicago area and the Franklin Street Subway in downtown Chicago.

The department's appropriation has also been increased to permit the City of Chicago to use federal funds to initiate work on the Burnham Corridor.

The Crosstown agreement will make $100 million available for street work in the Chicago area. The 140 projects to be undertaken include improvement of more than 200 miles of streets and highways, intersection improvements and bridge rehabilitation. Up to 40,000 jobs will be created as the program progresses.

Advances from the Crosstown funds will make available — to substantially increase next year's federal highway program — regular federal highway dollars which would normally have gone into the Chicago area.

"I have reduced the total transportation budget as sent to me by $114 million. This reduction is necessary to remain within the constraints of the money we actually will have available," the governor said.

Only four projects added to the budget by the General Assembly will remain in the program — an overpass will be constructed at Freeway 406 at Illinois 96 at Morton at a cost of $1 million; $480,000 is included for dredging Fox Chain O'Lakes, $300,000 to dredge Silver Creek from Irving Park road to the Des Plaines River in DuPage and Cook Counties, and $85,000 for a feasibility study of a future reservoir along Spring Creek near Joliet.

"I agree there are many worthy projects throughout the state put forth by the General Assembly but we simply do not have the funds to accomplish all of them at this time," Thompson said.

Because of the Crosstown agreement and other action taken by the Assembly authorizing a special bond issue, the state's fiscal year 1979 road program will be $562 million instead of the $215 million previously projected.

Additionally, $12 million bond funds have been added to $3 million in funds carried over from last year to rehabilitate and replace dangerous bridges on rural highways throughout the state.

Gov. Thompson said, "These funds, when matched with local contributions, will allow local officials to undertake more than $26 million in bridge improvements next year, reflecting the high priority I have placed on these projects."

The bill, as approved by the governor, also provides funding for two new programs. A total of $3.6 million is appropriated to extend the department's successful rail freight continuation program from the lines of the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad to lines in jeopardy of abandonment by other railroads in Illinois.

Approximately $200,000 has been added to the budget to allow the department to hire necessary staff to implement new legislation requiring the department to regulate transportation of hazardous materials.

The total increase in the department's operating funds has been held below five per cent.

The bulk of this increase is tied to the increasing highway maintenance costs, which have shown a seven to nine per cent annual rise during the last five years.

Thompson said he did not follow the practice of some past governors of approving all local projects added by the General Assembly members to the transportation program, because "local areas are entitled to know exactly what they will receive this year."

"It is not fair to them to approve a project now, and then release the funds to accomplish it later."

"This year, there are only a limited number of dollars available for roads. Approval of more than is available would be an act of duplicity."

Girl bitten, dog is being sought

Neighbors and friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Hebert, 2714 Buxton Ave., are trying to find a black and brown mixed breed German shepherd dog that bit their eight-year old daughter, Kim Hebert, Tuesday evening. The youngster was playing with other children in the vicinity of Victory Drive and Buxton Avenue at 6 p.m. when the dog jumped and bit her. She was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for two small puncture wounds to the chest.

According to the children, the dog was wearing a red collar studded with rhinestones. The collar had green and silver tags attached. Hebert said the child's doctor informed the family that if the animal is not found by Friday, Kim will have to begin taking a series of anti-rabies shots. The family is offering a reward to anyone who can offer a positive identification of the dog, its owners and their address. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the dog may call the Heberts at 877-6605.

Worker, 27, GC man invents aid to fishermen electrocuted

John Seidel, 27, of 841 Marissa St., Florissant, Mo., died of an apparent electrocution while working at the Steelbrade Corp., 1603 Cleveland Blvd., at 9:25 p.m. Wednesday.

Ambulances were told Mr. Seidel and Ronald Daugherty, 5009 Lewis Ave., were drilling a hole in a concrete floor when there was an electric power failure in that portion of the building.

The drill, lights and fan went off and Mr. Seidel opened the electrical circuit box to test for a possible blown fuse.

Daugherty said Mr. Seidel was using an electrical tester and pulled the clamps from the fuses when he was shocked and fell to the floor.

Daugherty summoned aid, and an ambulance was called.

Emergency medical technicians from the Granite City ambulance service attempted to revive Mr. Seidel at the scene but were unsuccessful.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was pronounced dead at 9:40 p.m. Officials noted the circuit box which Mr. Seidel was testing carried 440 volts.

He was taken to a St. Louis funeral home, where arrangements are incomplete.

If you are among the more than 38,500 fishermen in the United States today, in a short time you may be able to leave your rod and reel unattended, in a secure holder preventing the equipment from becoming lost or damaged when tugged hard by a fish fighting the hook.

The formula for a successful, marketable invention that would be eagerly accepted by the public is believed almost invariably to be a simple, inexpensive item.

A Granite City man may have come up with just such an item — "stand for fishing rod." It is considered an improvement over any previous invention of its type due to its pure, uncomplicated basic design and ease of production.

Donald E. Caughron, 2871 Madison Ave., has invented and patented the "stand for fishing rod," as his patent is officially titled.

Although his invention may not seem the type to set the world on fire, to nearly 39 million fishermen in the U.S., plus millions of other anglers throughout the world, it could prove an intriguing and valuable addition to the tackle box.

The concept is to provide a convenient and portable device to hold a fishing rod when the angler is not actually using the rod for casting, the inventor said this week.

"It is ideal for bank fishing. It is more compact than any other I have seen when the market," Caughron added.

"You can carry it on your rod, since it folds up and clamps on the rod, or you can carry it in your pocket," he pointed out.

Only two elements are incorporated into the invention, one is the actual holder for the rod, represented by a slightly curved section (similar to a "U" shape) about 5/8 inch in length, running the length of the piece.

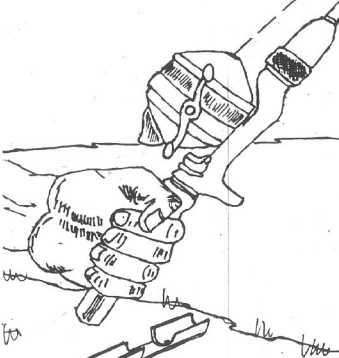

Dimensionally, it is sized to fit the handle of a fishing rod, with metal strips, about 1 1/2 inches wide, are attached to this piece and are bent inwardly.

The handle of the fishing rod is placed within these strips, which function with a spring action. Along the bottom of the piece, there is a long slot, designed to accommodate part of the bracing section.

At the extreme end of the first piece, the material parts towards a point, again being dimensionally desirable to fit the handle of the rod, Caughron explained.

At the opposite end, there is a small hinge, which attaches to a point and is driven into the ground for support.

Within the hinge there is a locking device, such as a pin, which, when inserted, holds the two elements rigidly at the desired angle, he said.

Also, through slots provided in each of the elements, a more rigid support can be found through the use of a metal wedge that will maintain a particular angle between the parts in use.

The small metal wedge is placed between the ground pin and the bottom of the "U" shaped section designed to hold the handle of the rod.

This provides additional rigidity to maintain the fishing rod at the proper angle, the inventor explained.

In use, Caughron said, the pointed end of the fishing rod stand is driven into the ground.

The handle of the rod is then placed in the curved section, to be held by the spring strips.

The hinge locking device is tightened and/or the wedge is placed in position between the two elements, thus furnishing a support between them to firmly hold the fishing rod.

Invention Marketing Inc., a St. Louis-based company, reviewed the invention and concluded, "The concept is both simple and acceptable."

The firm also researched the patent rights, looking for already existing devices. It then sent the local man copies of five patents for fishing rod holders, filed with the United States Patent Office between April 3, 1968, and Sept. 26, 1969.

During the 1977 school year, this is an increase from last year of $24,141. Anticipated revenue this year is $198,339.

Bond and interest costs are budgeted at $28,450, down $575 from 1976-77, with a projected revenue of $36,635.

Transportation expenses are budgeted this year at $77,238, up $13,028 from last year's expenditures. Revenue is expected to total $65,374.

In the 1977-78 budget, $48,342 is listed for municipal retirement purposes, an increase of $4,727 over last year, with projected revenue at $47,187.

Samuel Shambro succumbs

Samuel H. Shambro, 62, of 3143 Maryville Road, a retired construction worker, died at 1:30 a.m. today at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

He had worked in Laborers' Local 397 until his retirement. Born in Marion, Ill., Mr. Shambro had resided in the Quad-Cities almost all his life.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Two wounded with shotgun

Richard Caudill, 24, of 501 Fillmore St., and Steve Davis, 24, of 417 Lincoln Ave., both of Venice, were admitted at 3:08 a.m. today to St. Elizabeth Hospital, suffering from shotgun wounds.

Caudill was wounded in his left forearm, left shoulder and back, while Davis was peppered by shotgun pellets on his right side, right arm and back.

Both declined to give statements to police.

Authorities believe the shooting took place near Third and Kerr streets, Venice, at about 2:45 a.m. today.

Iowans win freestyle wrestling meet here

An Iowa State championship wrestling team competed against eight Granite City matmen and one wrestler from Belleville, East St. Louis and Alton in an all-Iowa freestyle wrestling meet yesterday at GCHS South, defeating the local matmen in seven of 10 bouts.

Claiming victories for the local team were GCHS North's Chris and Keith Whelan and Don Launders of East St. Louis.

Wrestling three two-minute bouts, Chris Whelan defeated his 105-pound foe from Iowa.

Keith Whelan won at 114 and Launders won his heavyweight bouts by default.

Competing also were Rodney Luparus, Brian and Randy Basore, Sam Perkins and Darrell Hasty, all of GCHS South, and Mark Widel of GCHS North.

The wins by Keith Whelan and Launders marked a second time the Granite City matmen took top honors in a meet.

During an Illinois state freestyle tournament this weekend, held at Bollingbrook, the two wrestlers won championships in matches in their weight classes to qualify for competition at a national U.S. Wrestling Federation event.

Named July 28-30 at Iowa City, Ia., as members of a 30-man state team.

Chris Whelan and Widel placed third in their weight classes, Widel at 178 pounds, at Bollingbrook, to also earn points for the national meet.

Chris Whelan took runnerup honors in last year's national meet at 105 pounds.

Football registration

All boys planning to participate this fall in the Granite City Rascals tackle football program are being asked to register Tuesday, July 18, from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the Nameoki Recreation Center, Pontoon Road and Franklin Avenue.

This does not include those returning players from last year's teams who have already paid their re-registration fee, but any players who have not re-registered must do so now.

Prospective players are to return a completed registration form signed by the parent or guardian and pay a $15 registration fee prior to participating in the Rascals' first practice session, scheduled to start Aug. 13.

The club is a self-supporting organization and the fee is necessary to help cover the cost of the boys' insurance, registration, equipment and uniform maintenance.

Each player is issued over $70 worth of equipment before he plays the first game.

The Granite City club will field four teams again this year in three different weight age divisions in the Tri-Cities Junior Football Conference.

The Midget division team will consist of boys weighing 115 pounds or less and who will not have reached the age of 13 before Sept. 2, and also 15-year-old boys who weigh 100 pounds or less.

The Pee Wee division team will consist of boys weighing 85 pounds or less, and also 13-year-old boys who weigh 75 pounds or less.

Junior Pee Wee division teams will consist of boys weighing 65 pounds or less, and who are nine years old or younger by Sept. 2.

This year, players close to the weight limit are allowed to gain one pound every two weeks during the season. Bob Patrick is president and Bill Johnson is registration chairman.

$2.4 million tentative Venice school budget

By VALERIE EVENEDEN

Press-Record Staff Writer

A total of $2,414,969 in expenditures, $120,625 over last year, is listed in the 1977-78 budget for the Venice School District. The budget reflects a potential deficit of $22,394.

The tentative budget was approved for public posting by the Venice Board of Education at a meeting last night.

A public hearing on the budget was set for 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 17, at the board office.

In other business, the board adopted a two-year working agreement with Venice Local 965, American Federation of Teachers, calling for a $500 annual salary increase in the 1977-78 school year, and an added $100 yearly rise in pay in the contract's second year.

Verbal, agreed with the union negotiators has been reached, and Teachers Local 965 members are expected to ratify the new agreement, possibly this week. Sup't. of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

The board also delayed a firm decision on transporting Venice pupils by bus until more members can inspect, in person, several used school buses which were offered on bids.

The Venice School District's total budget for 1977-78 includes the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center budget, amounting to $557,247, an increase of $61,490 over last year.

All funds to operate the adult vocational educational school are reimbursed from federal and state agencies.

The total budget to operate Venice schools is up less than 1 percent over 1976-77. Sup't. Vickers noted, and it is an increase of less than two percent if additional funds to operate Title I and Title VII programs, to be received in the next school year, are not included.

Bellcoff again leads port board

John Bellcoff, city clerk of Madison, was re-elected as president of the Tri-City Regional Port District board during the board's annual reorganization meeting Tuesday night.

The board selected William "Mike" Ebersold, mayor of Venice, as its new secretary, replacing Clyde Boyd, who will continue on the board but did not wish to hold an office.

Carl Rantit was reappointed as the port district's general manager and Randall Robertson was retained as the board's attorney.

It was decided to postpone the opening of bids for a new conveyor system from July 15 to July 25 to give contractors more time in which to prepare their bids.

The conveyor will transfer dry bulk fertilizer materials at the rate of 400 tons per hour about 1,150 feet between barges, rail cars, trucks and storage facilities.

Paul Moore, 34, Rural Route Two, Granite City, went to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 11:10 a.m. Tuesday after falling while riding a motorcycle. He suffered cuts and abrasions to his left knee, arm and palm and the left side of his chest. X-rays were taken and he was admitted.

customer who doesn't know a thing about a washer. It's the kind of store one learns to visit first when a specific size clamp or wing nut is required, and it seems to have more items unavailable elsewhere than any other store.

"I know my invention is generating more excitement over at Invention Marketing than even I imagined," Caughron said.

"They tell me it could be the biggest thing since the 'pet rock' craze," he added laughing.

The "stand for fishing rod" is not Caughron's first invention, nor likely to be his last endeavor.

Ten years ago to the day, that he signed an agreement to go ahead and offer his rod holder to prospective manufacturers, Caughron was granted the right to an "emergency landing apparatus" for high speed aircraft.

A feature about his initial invention was published in the June 22, 1967, issue of the Press-Record.

The landing device utilized a sequential release of six parachutes, designed to lower an aircraft to the ground when a motive power is lost, thereby averting high-speed crash landings.

Cost of installing such a device in commercial aircraft prohibited the development of the concept for mass production, he explained, although it was generally conceded that the idea would work.

Other technological improvements in aircraft safety factors have negated his invention, though none utilize the same approach, he said.

As long as Donald Caughron is around, he will be thinking and, as long as he thinks, it is hard to say what next will "pop" into his head.

There were 38 million-plus fishermen in the United States in 1972. I estimate there might even be twice that many since the last official count," Caughron said.

A percentage of 76 million times $1.98 equals a heck of a lot of money.

$1,100 BURGLARY
Items valued at about $1,100 were stolen during a burglary discovered early this week at the home of James Whittier, 2900 Buxton Ave. A window air conditioner on the east side of the house was taken out of the window and set on the ground, and entry was gained by crawling through the window. Taken were a $300 radio receiver, 125 tape recordings worth a $600 total, and about $200 in change from a gallon jar.

Wheat is harvested; yield up, price low

The wheat harvest has been virtually completed in Madison County.

"Yields were generally better than expected but prices were much worse than we had hoped for," Dale R. Sherrard, district conservationist, said this week. "Agriculture is a dynamic business where we have to be flexible and versatile in order to survive. Soil conservation work also must adapt to changes in technology and economic conditions in order to be effective," he commented. "In the early days of soil conservation work, we handled most soil erosion problems with crop rotations—including varying amounts of small grain and meadow. This not the case anymore in Madison County. "We must accept a corn-beans economy and develop a conservation program to fit it. There are only two ways to control water erosion on sloping land. One is to keep the land under vegetative water erosion on sloping land. One is to keep the land under vegetative cover and the other is to reduce the length of the slope. "Since we are not willing to keep the soil protected with small grains and meadow crops, we must turn to special tillage practices to provide the vegetative cover. Terraces are the best method of reducing the length of slope. "A good conservation program generally includes a combination of terraces and conservation tillage, depending on the severity of the erosion problems. This combination gives the producer the greatest flexibility in his cropping system while still protecting his most valuable resource, his soil." Sherrard said the U.S. Department of Agriculture Service, Edwardsville Post Office Box 462, will help farmers in Madison County design management systems to fit such situations.

Hurt in 4-vehicle crash

Kenneth Andrews, 31, of 1545 Garfield Ave., was injured in a four-vehicle accident at Nameoki and Fehling roads at 8:40 p.m. Monday. Andrews' truck was going from Johnson Road to Fehling Road when struck from the right by the southbound auto of Stanley Kamadulski, 61 Riviera Drive, which allegedly went through a red light. The impact pushed Andrews' truck into two autos stopped for the red light on Fehling Road, says by Waldemar Endle, 2411 Cleveland Blvd., and Deborah Zedek, 3148 Aubrey Ave.

Kamadulski was charged with a stoplight violation. Andrews was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, dazed after his head struck his truck's windshield. He sustained a cut above the left eyebrow and was admitted to the hospital after x-rays were taken.

Initial funding for Southwest Ill. public TV

An allocation of $35,000 for operating funds for the Southwest Illinois Public Television Corporation for the 1977-78 fiscal year was approved Tuesday by the Illinois Board of Higher Education. Meeting at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, the IBHE also approved requests from two other regional educational television consortia: $95,000 for the Chicago Metropolitan Higher Education Council and $170,000 for the West Central Illinois Educational Telecommunications Corp.

The Southwestern Illinois Public Television Corporation (SIPTV) is a consortium of three groups — SIUE, Area V public schools, and the Regional Council on Interinstitutional Cooperation — in addition to public members from Madison and St. Clair Counties. To date, no capital funds have been made available to SIPTV, for which Channel 18 has been reserved by the Federal Communications Commission.

The $35,000 allocation will permit SIPTV to contract for legal and surveying services related to site acquisition. The funds also will permit it to acquire commodities and equipment to be used for program production.

Originally, SIPTV requested $470,000 for operating expenditures in 1977-78. The request was based on an assumption that SIPTV would receive an appropriation of capital funds to construct a broadcasting tower and would be on the air sometime during the fall of 1979.

According to the IBHE, the lack of such an appropriation will delay the start of broadcasting by at least one year. The Illinois General Assembly last year approved legislation appropriating $1.5 million for SIPTV television transmitting facilities, but the legislation was vetoed by Gov. Daniel Walker on the basis that bonding for the funds through the Capital Development Board had not been authorized. The IBHE has recommended the appropriation of $1.5 million in capital funds for the project in 1977-78.

John A. Regnell, executive director of SIPTV and director of the SIUE Broadcasting Service, says SIPTV's purpose will be to offer programming which will meet the continuing education and public service needs of Illinois citizens in this region.

It also is to provide practical instructional experience for students enrolled in mass communications degree programs at SIUE. Studio capabilities and a major part of the production facilities already exist at the university to meet these purposes.

Regnell is urging SIPTV, together with the IBHE and the legislature, to "bend every effort in the coming year to make capital funds available for construction."

The executive director added, "Community assessment and other work have been completed toward the filing of FCC and Department of Health, Education and Welfare applications, but capital funding remains the stumbling block."

In other action Tuesday, the IBHE received from the Educational Television Commission two reports regarding the commission's activities since April 1976: A State Plan for Educational Television in Illinois and the Commission's Annual Report for 1976-77. Formal action on the commission's recommendations will be requested at the September meeting of the IBHE.

'Hot air' time at capital

Every summer in Springfield, capital of Illinois, brings more "hot air." This year, the Illinois State Fair is arranging to take some of it away.

At the State Fair (Aug. 11-21), spectators will be able to watch a hot-air balloon race. On Monday, Aug. 15, at 5:30 p.m., in the fair's newest event, balloons will inflate and gracefully rise into the sea of air above the Grandstand track, until they catch currents of wind and gradually become lost in the sky. Such a mass ascension of balloons usually results in as many directions as participants.

It will be a "hare and hound" race, one of the three most popular balloon races. At the start, a non-competing balloon, the hare, is launched. Fifteen minutes later, the competitors, or hounds, are launched, drifting as closely as the cat to the hare.

Winners of the race are those pilots who manage to land their balloons closest to the hare.

Another popular competition is the "bomb drop," a contest in which balloonists attempt to maneuver their balloons over a large ground target and drop an object, usually a plastic bag filled with water, closest to the center of the target.

The third most popular race is the "minimum distance, maximum time" race, in which balloons try to fight the wind currents and remain in a stationary position at a predetermined altitude. This race is a favorite for balloonists in rocky or mountainous regions.

The balloons that spectators will see at the State Fair this year are not new inventions—they are the brothers and sisters of balloons that flew as early as 1792. Used for observation vehicles in the Civil War and then flown for sport, the popularity of balloons soared until the 1930s. With the disastrous crash of the Hindenburg on May 6, 1937, lighter-than-air activity all but disappeared.

Now, more than 30 years later, the graceful ascent of balloons is again becoming a familiar sight across the nation.

According to Don Kersten, president of the Balloon Federation of America, there are now 1,200 hot-air balloons in the U.S., a big increase over the 100 registered in 1970. With the surge of interest in the sport, balloon-flying schools are rapidly opening, who will pilot the hare balloon for the fair, always dreamt of flying a balloon but never knew where to learn. In 1968, she found a balloon for sale and immediately bought it.

Nikki Caplan, who will pilot the hare balloon for the fair, always dreamt of flying a balloon but never knew where to learn. In 1968, she found a balloon for sale and immediately bought it. But it wasn't until four years later that she was able to find someone who could teach her to fly it. And then she had to travel 2,000 miles, to California, to learn.

Today, with her husband Don, Nikki owns four balloons and has opened a balloon distribution center, Aeronautics, Ltd., in St. Louis.

She has also begun teaching a ground class in ballooning at Meramec College. In order to receive a balloon pilot certificate, issued by the Federal Aviation Administration, students must pass a written exam, log ten hours of air time, and make a solo test flight.

Some certified balloonists do not own their own balloon but fly corporation balloons, featuring advertising banners and promotional messages.

Those who do own a balloon have purchased them for prices ranging from $5,000 to $7,000. The price includes the inflated shell, or envelope; the gondola, where pilot and passengers stand throughout the flight; fuel tanks and instruments.

GOOD DEED. Life Scout John Kefalas, (right), 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kefalas, 2484 Waterman Drive, hands Scout Executive William Monical a check for over $100 to purchase film for an updating of Camp Sunnen photo slides. He earned the money washing cars and felt a new set of slides was needed, as the current promotional slides are several years old. Kefalas is a member of Troop Five, sponsored by Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Funds delay Reveille Lane rail improvement

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer
The Chicago & Northwestern Railroad will not repair an allegedly steep and dangerous rail crossing on Reveille Lane in Nameoki Township because of "current budget constraints," the Nameoki Town Board said Monday night.

In response to a request from Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Frank Mehelec to repair the crossing, D. L. Boger, assistant division manager-engineering, for the railroad, wrote the township a letter estimating the cost of the work at $5,760.

The letter noted, "We are not in a position to do the work at this time without outside assistance."

"If you are willing to fund this project, please advise and we will make arrangements to have the work carried out."

Mehelec said he will go to his attorney and seek ways to force the railroad to repair the rough crossing. "They do not pay their taxes anyway, and I object to that," Mehelec alleged.

It was asserted that the crossing problem is caused by a railroad siding being lower than the parallel main line.

"The only way that this condition could be resolved would be to raise the siding approximately two feet," Boger's letter said.

"To accomplish this would mean the installation of 600 cubic yards of ballast and 60 crossties to allow the grade to be run off 200 feet on each side of the crossing," he added.

Boger's estimate of $5,760 does not include any other crossing improvements, it was noted.

Township Trustee W. Lee Adams asked Mehelec jokingly, "What would happen if you went over that steep incline with a load of asphalt and the load just shifted on you and dumped out on the siding?"

In other business, the board heard objections to errors made in the county's installation of street signs and in the changing of some well-known street names.

Mehelec said he is to meet with county officials to correct the errors and to oppose changing any names.

"I am not changing the name of any road," Mehelec pledged.

The board approved advertising for bids for the purchase of uniforms, leather goods, guns, a scanner and radios needed by the Nameoki Auxiliary Police Unit.

Requests for new fire hydrants, including one on Hemlock Avenue, were discussed by the board, but residents were told that the Long Lake Fire Protection District is the district which decides where fire plugs are to be placed.

Adams, a member of that board, noted Hemlock Avenue is among those being studied for a new hydrant.

Bills approved for payment totaled $3,462 from the town fund, $628 from the road and bridge fund, $354 from the anti-recession fiscal assistance fund, $3,223 from general assistance, $3,196 from federal revenue sharing and $6,816 from the special hard road fund.

Heinke-Choat nuptials at Word of Life Tabernacle

Miss Donna J. Choat, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Choat, 2976 Madison Ave., and Richard N. Heinke, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Heinke, 315 W. First St., O'Fallon, were united in marriage, on June 11, at the Word of Life Tabernacle.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Choat selected a white gown and jacket ensemble. The groom's mother appeared in a green sleeveless dress with matching cape. Both wore corsages of variegated carnations and yellow daisies.

The Rev. Henry Crippen performed the double ring ceremony at 5 p.m. before an altar decorated with bouquets of rainbow color carnations, yellow daisies and baby's

Melanie Skokla marks birthday

Melanie Skokla was guest of honor at a surprise party given in honor of her fifth birthday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Skokla, 7 Briarcliff Drive, last week.

Maid of honor, Miss Diana Choat, a sister of the bride, chose a pastel blue silk sleeveless gown, worn with a matching cape.

The bridesmaid, Miss Donna Etherton selected a yellow dress in identical style. Both wore Venise lace hats in hues to match their attire.

Melissa Smith, a cousin of the bride, was dressed in a pink frock and she also wore a pink hat. They all held bouquets to match the bridal arrangement.

The groom chose his brother-in-law, Mike Cleveland, as best man. Elmer Schulteis, another brother-in-law, Roger Choat, an uncle of the bride and Jimmy Choat, the bride's brother, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

Free book on work hazards

Small businessmen interested in advice on maintaining a hazard-free workplace can obtain that advice through a free booklet available from the office of Rep. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill. Dist.).

The "Handbook for Small Businesses," published by the U.S. Occupational Safety and Health Administration, is a new self-help guide, easily understood and used by the small business employer, Price said. The booklet is part of a recently announced OSHA program of "common sense" initiatives to more effectively respond to safety and health problems at American workplaces.

The agency has in the past been criticized for concentrating its efforts on minute details at the expense of mainstream safety programs, and the booklet is the first step in an attempt to begin changing that focus.

"OSHA is trying to inform and educate the public and the small business employer as to the hazards that come with any business operation," Rep. Price said. "I think the booklet is a step in the right direction."

In particular, it stresses benefits that can accrue to businesses that maintain hazard-free workplaces.

It recommends procedures for establishing a safety program, and it contains a checklist employers may use to conduct their own periodic safety and health surveys.

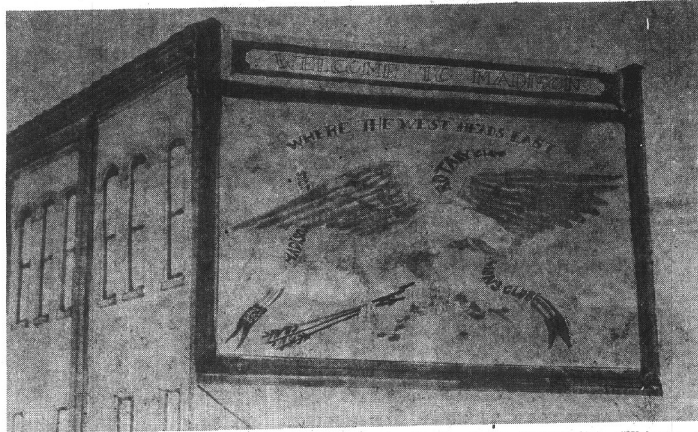

Copies may be obtained by writing Rep. Melvin Price, 2340 Rayburn Building, Washington, D. C. 20515.

YOUNG MADISON ARTIST. Fifteen-year-old Madisonian Mary Marsala, who will be a sophomore student in the fall at Assumption High School, East St. Louis, works on a huge mural welcoming visitors to the City of Madison. The mural is being painted on the west wall of Tony and Joe's Tavern on the corner of Third Street and Madison Avenue. Miss Marsala has been painting as a hobby for about eight years and plans to finish the mural in about a week.

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of what a huge mural being painted on the west side of Tony and Joe's, Third Street and Madison Avenue, will look like when finished. The project is being jointly sponsored by the Madison Amvets Post 204, the Madison Lions Club and the Madison-Venice Rotary Club. "Welcome to Madison" will be the message conveyed by the mural of an American bald eagle capped with a banner proclaiming, "Where the West Heads East." (Press-Record Photo) the last meeting by the council.

Following procedures to bring the matter on the floor again, Grzywacz made another motion for the council to rescind the action. Grzywacz then moved to approve the original recommendation of the zoning board and deny a special zoning permit.

Attorney Leon Scroggins, representing a group opposing an industry at the store site, was then recognized by Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk. Scroggins said, "Gentlemen, I really have very little to say now. I am here, as these residents have retained me as an attorney."

"I and they appreciate the action just taken and this will stop any further legal action, as my clients are very satisfied. They are very pleased with most of the actions of the council and the services to the people rendered by the city," Mayor Sasyk responded. "We are all concerned about the safety and upgrading of our city. I want to thank all the people who came out tonight."

"I hope they will see fit to return to visit council meetings more often. We need and want input from our citizens."

"We aren't always right, but we are trying to do our best, and I do hope the people here tonight will return."

People started arriving for the council meeting at 6 p.m. and by 7:30 the council chambers were crowded. Most indicated they were concerned over the zoning action. Many added that they do not live in the ward or neighborhood where the manufacturing plant was to have been located.

One resident verbally attacked City Clerk John Belloff in front of the City Hall as Belloff was arriving.

The individual yelled, "We're going to get you for voting for that plant. We're going to get a new broom and sweep clean." The clerk has no vote at council meetings.

Several persons were verbally abusive to council members as they entered the City Hall. Some aldermen attempted to explain council procedural rules.

Although emotional earlier, members of the audience were silent at the council session and only the attorney spoke for the group.

After the decision was reversed, pleasing the gathering, the council went into an executive session to discuss personnel and hiring of police.

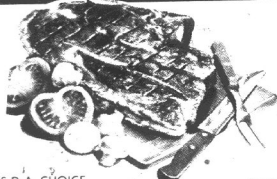

LOFTY PERCH. A huge mural of an eagle begins to take shape Tuesday afternoon as Mary Marsala, 15, a lifelong resident of Madison, works from a scaffold high above the traffic of Madison Avenue. The project, the largest undertaken by Miss Marsala, measures more than 125 square feet.

Circle 835 attends garden party

A garden party and buffet were hosted this week at the home of Mrs. Peggy Crnkovich for members of Our Lady of Fatima Circle 835, Daughters of Isabella.

Mrs. Josephine Knezevich, circle refreshment chairman, was assisted in serving the guests by Mesdames Emma Jakich, Katherine Jenkins, Mary Kastelic, Ann Kientzy and Mildred Kraus.

Mrs. Irma Manning, Circle 835 regent, read a report from Mrs. Lucy Schell, state regent, announcing the appointment of the Rev. Fr. Vincent Ryan as the new state chaplain.

Reviewed were plans for the annual installation of officers from chapters within the Springfield Diocese, scheduled Oct. 30 in Highland, Ill. Also discussed were details of a trip to the Mundy Opera in August.

During the social hour, Mrs. Manning conducted an auction of items donated by the circle members.

Madison Junior Service projects

Madison Junior Service Club will take part in two special community-wide programs in Madison, including the "Alpine Days" project scheduled this weekend.

Plans for the activities were made at a special meeting of the club this week.

Julia Voloski was appointed chairman of a bake sale stand on Friday and Saturday, to be located on Madison Avenue, between Fourth and Fifth Streets.

Participation in the "Ethnic Festival" in August also was reviewed and Caroline Champion and Joann Gushoff were chosen to head the project.

At the August festival, the Junior Service members will offer popcorn, pretzels and snowcones to patrons.

Progressive Class meets at the church

Mrs. Lois Jones and Mrs. Virginia Taylor were hostesses to the Progressive Class of Second Baptist Church, at a meeting held Monday at the church.

Mrs. Florence Paul gave the opening prayer followed by the class reciting the 23rd Psalm. Mrs. Mina Duggins led the group in song.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Irene Reagan. Mrs. Lesia Cobeton gave the devotion and Mrs. Melba Roberts registered the roll call with each one giving a scripture verse.

Mrs. Tillie Naylor was appointed to take a gift to an ill member and to deliver cookies to the church for the Bible School sessions.

Refreshments were served to those named and to Iva Biggs, Naomi Ronney, Lena Stephens, Lena Bonriver, Rachel Westphal and a guest, Kevin Hawkins.

The subpoenas were delivered by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The one brought to the city clerk's building called for appearance at 2:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 5, at Room 312, Downtown Post Office and Federal Building, Sixth and Monroe, Springfield.

It was issued by order of Clerk Robert J. Kauffman of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Illinois, Southern Division.

Similar introductory wording appeared on the document that went to the street department. The subpoena directed to the City Hall asked for "minutes, records, and related documents relating to Granite City, Ill., City Council action or City Council committee action involving appropriation of city funds for streets, sewers and sanitation and related goods and services for the period Jan. 1, 1970, to present."

It added that "you may comply with this subpoena by furnishing the requested documents to any special agent of the FBI in lieu of appearing at the above-stated time and place."

The street department subpoena seeks "records, documents and files pertaining to purchases of goods or services from commercial or individual vendors by the Street Department, in the amount of $500 or more, including but not limited to street and sewer matters involving purchase authorization orders or memoranda, bid documents, internal memoranda, correspondence, invoices, service or purchase contracts, payment requests, option agreements, etc., for the period Jan. 1, 1970 to present."

It also notes that "you may comply with this subpoena by furnishing the requested documents to any special agent of the FBI in lieu of appearing at the above-stated time and place."

Telephone negotiations continue here, nationally

Despite rumors of a potential strike by telephone company employees against Illinois Bell on Aug. 8, company officials said this week that negotiations are proceeding well at both the national and local levels and no strike votes have yet been taken by the Communications

Workers of America. National talks are under way in Washington, D.C., and talks for the Southwestern District of Illinois Bell Telephone are being held in St. Louis. The Southwestern District includes the Quad-City area, East St. Louis, Belleville, Freeburg, Lebanon and O'Fallon. About 700 union employees work in the district. A union spokesman noted that a current three-year contract is due to expire Aug. 8. He said a strike vote will be taken next week. Local 6301, representing operators, will vote here Monday, July 18, and the larger Local 6600, representing installers, business office employees, the plant department and test board crews, will vote Wednesday, July 20.

After voting is held nationwide, results of the balloting will be announced Friday, July 22.

The international president then will set a date for a strike if negotiations break down, the spokesman said.

Planning grant goes to county

The Illinois Department of Local Government Affairs has awarded a $7,500 comprehensive planning assistance grant to the Madison County Board, Director John W. Castle disclosed today.

The money is part of a federal grant made to the State of Illinois by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for the support of comprehensive planning activities at the state, regional and local levels.

"The twelve-month funding, effective July 1, will permit the county board to undertake several activities of importance to Madison County," Castle said.

The grant will enable the Madison County Community Development Department to undertake comprehensive planning activities, including implementation of land use and housing policies, the development of a countywide housing conditions survey, and the coordination of local and regional planning activities.

Suspect shot in chase, two others are in jail

An 18-year-old man from East St. Louis was admitted to St. Elizabeth hospital this morning suffering from a minor gunshot wound to his right heel and two other East St. Louisans, 18, are being held in the Venice city jail, all to be charged with armed robbery.

While on patrol, police were stopped at 1:18 a.m. today at Bissell and Weaver streets, Venice, by a man who told police three men had just pulled a gun on him, took his money and fled.

The victim, George Howell, 18, of Lee Wright Homes, Venice, pointed to a car about a block away that allegedly was the auto of the three men.

Police went after the vehicle, but it sped away and a chase followed.

The car went down a dirt road, heading toward the Kerr-McGee Chemical plant, and tried to make a U-turn, striking a fence and coming to a stop.

Police ordered the men in the auto to turn off the engine and stay in the car, but the driver put the gears in reverse, wheeled around the police car and tried to escape.

Venice police fired a warning shot. The car did not stop, so a shot was fired at the tires.

A bullet entered the lower section on the right side of the car in the passenger door.

The man in the front seat told police he had been shot, and police found a small metal fragment lodged in the back portion of his heel and tennis shoe.

He was taken to the hospital and the other two men to jail. The car was brought to a stop by Madison police, who had set up a road block on Washington Avenue, Venice, about 100 feet south of Race Street.

WOMAN IS BEATEN BY MAN IN APARTMENT

Mrs. Betty Bruske, 906 Kirkpatrick Homes, was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital after a man beat her at her home at 8:55 p.m. Tuesday. She said the man came to her door, threatened her, entered the apartment and beat her with his fists and with a fan.

Her son attempted to use a baseball bat to stop the man, but was unsuccessful. The man finally tore out telephone wires and left. Mrs. Bruske suffered multiple injuries, including cuts to her head.

Joseph Kamacho, 53, dies

Joseph V. Kamacho, 53, of 4917 Mueller Ave., became ill at home and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was pronounced dead upon arrival at 11:10 p.m. Wednesday. He had been ill for three years.

A lifelong resident of Granite City, Mr. Kamacho retired in 1969 from the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Railroad's Venice yards. He had worked there for 18 years as a section leader.

Mr. Kamacho was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1300.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Minnie Kamacho; six children, Misses Cecelia and Marguerita Kamacho, Joseph Jr., John L. George and Christopher Kamacho, all at home; and two sisters, Mrs. Arthur (Josephine) Hogue and Mrs. William (Mary) Schmitt both of Granite City.

Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Marijuana found

Charges were to be filed today against two Granite City men after police alleged finding a large quantity of marijuana in their van Wednesday evening.

Police first were told someone in a tan over white auto had thrown a duffel bag into a yard in the 2400 block of Hodges Ave. As officers were enroute to investigate, a second report was received that a van had stopped in the alley and two men got out, grabbed the duffel bag and left in the van toward Kate Street.

Police began following several vans in the area until a description of the vehicle with the duffel bag was broadcast. A light green van was stopped at 27th Street and Madison Avenue and officers alleged a duffel bag with what appeared to be marijuana sticking out of the top was in plain view in the van.

One man in the van allegedly yelled and cursed at officers and said his clothes were in the duffel bag.

The van contained two men, two women, a baby and a dog, police noted.

The passenger was taken into custody and placed in a squad car and the van's driver was instructed to drive to the police station while a squad car followed.

In the 2300 block of Madison Avenue, a plastic bag allegedly was thrown from a van window. Police recovered the bag, which was about the size of a rolled-up fist and contained marijuana, officers alleged.

At the police station, the woman with the baby was released, pending further investigation. The two men and the other woman were held in jail pending questioning today.

At 9:15 p.m. Wednesday, police heard a disturbance in the "bullpen" area of the jail and alleged finding that a 61-year-old prisoner had been severely beaten and a fire had been started in the jail block.

The fire, burning food cans from dinner, was quickly extinguished and the beaten prisoner, Willie Gibbs, 2810 Pershing Blvd., was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Gibbs was treated for a cut to his scalp, abrasions to his back and hematoma to his left eye and was transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis, with head injuries, he said.

Another prisoner in the bullpen beat him with a boot.

The other prisoner was charged with battery. When police tried to return him to his jail cell after the fire and beating, he allegedly resisted and fought. Force was used.

During the struggle with police, the prisoner fell and bumped his head on a metal cell block door and suffered a three-inch cut to his forehead, police said. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was treated and x-rayed and returned to the jail. A charge of resisting arrest was filed against him.

Gibbs, who is recuperating in the St. Louis hospital had suq orderly conduct after police alleged finding him intoxicated and asleep in the streets two times Wednesday morning.

After warning him the first time, they arrested him at 10:10 a.m. Wednesday at Nameoki Road and Pershing Boulevard and took him to jail.

Boy on bike hurt

David Dorsey, 9, of 4570 D'Lynn Drive, was injured when his bicycle and the auto of David Miskell, 18, of 1709 Sycamore Ave., collided on Wabash Avenue just north of Woodlawn Avenue at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday.

Miskell said he honked his car's horn and started to pass the bicycle on the left when the bicycle moved toward the left. The auto left 37 feet of skid marks, police said.

Dorsey was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital, where he was x-rayed, due to pain in his right knee and was released.

RADIO IS STOLEN

A $240 citizen band radio was stolen from the locked auto of Chris Broeker, Florissant, Mo., parked at Ricco's II, 2875 Nameoki Road, between 8:45 p.m. Wednesday and 1:15 a.m. today.

Local 98 still secretary agent

Building Service Employees Local 98, representing secretaries and custodians in the Granite City school district, won the right to represent the secretaries one more year during an arbitration hearing yesterday in Edwardsville.

A majority of the district's secretaries petitioned the Board of Education to call for an election on what union should represent them and many stopped paying their dues to Local 98.

The Board of Education called for an election June 22, but Local 98 officials obtained a temporary injunction blocking that election from being held.

After three arbitration steps, the impasse was taken before an impartial arbitrator yesterday who ruled Local 98's contract with the Board of Education to represent secretaries remains valid, even if the secretaries do not wish it.

He noted the board's failure to file a notice of the contract's discontinuation with the union prior to a Feb. 1 deadline that allowed the contract automatically to extend another year.

If a notice of discontinuation is filed by Feb. 1, 1978, a new union could be selected on June 30, 1978, it is believed.

Maryville Road paving dispute

A strike by members of Teamsters' Local 525 of Alton idled construction today on Maryville Road, which is being widened and extended from Route 162 to Route 203.

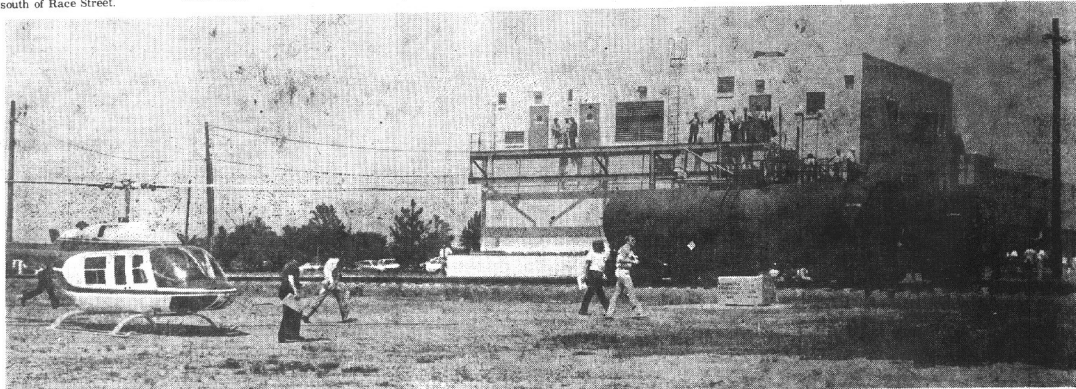

A spokesman for Hoeffken Brothers Construction Co., contractor for the Maryville

Road job, said the strike is due to a jurisdictional dispute between the Teamsters and the Operating Engineers.

Laborers also are honoring the Teamsters' picket lines.

Union officials said this morning that only Tim Burns, business agent for the Teamsters, could comment on the reason for the strike and Burns was unavailable.

The spokesman for the contractor also said the dispute should be easily solved but that Burns also has been unavailable to confer.

third-stage water treatment plant on the shore of Horseshoe Lake east of the plant's Blast Furnace Division. The chief executive of Illinois spoke at ceremonies marking the completion of the big treatment plant, visible at the right. (Press-Record Photo)

LARGE CROWD AT DEDICATION of the new Granite City Steel breakpoint chlorination and filtration plant. About 40 million gallons a day are recycled for continued use at the Steelworks and Blast Furnace Division, while the third-stage treatment plant processes and discharges another 25 million gallons daily into Horseshoe

Three churches plan parking lot program

Three downtown churches will sponsor a Parking Lot Program for three weeks, beginning Monday, July 18. A program of games and other playground recreation along with crafts will be provided each morning, 9 a.m. to 12 noon, under adult supervision. Children of elementary and junior high age are invited to attend the program being provided free by the three sponsoring churches.

St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ at 21st Street and Cleveland Boulevard, will be the site for the first week of the program from July 18-22. The following week the program will move to First United Presbyterian Church, 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue, running from July 25-29. The last week of the program will be held at Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, from Aug. 1-5. Children may attend all three weeks. The ministers of the three sponsoring churches, the Rev. Robert Kettelhut, the Rev. David Maxton and the Rev. Roy Baugh, explain that the idea for this program began last winter at a meeting of the Three-Church Task Force, a committee of laypeople and the clergy of the three churches. Three directors for the program were appointed and they are planning the three weeks event. Directors are Mike Loftus, Sue Knobloch and Debbie Engleman. Since it is the first year for this program among the three churches, an attempt will be made to keep it flexible using a number of different program ideas during the three weeks period. "We want each child to enjoy the time together as well as to realize a spirit of cooperation and community-being-together. Depending on the interests of the group, other forms of creative activities will be used including drama and contests," the ministers added. For further information prior to opening day, parents may call one of the three sponsoring churches.

Old Style

Brewed in a traditional Old World way called Kraeusening

From the very first day our brewery was opened, Heileman's Old Style has been fully, that's fully krausened, naturally carbonated, in the traditional Old World way.

Krausening is the most natural way to brew beer and the most expensive. Most expensive because krausening takes more time. A pure-brewing, double-brewing art that Old Style insists on using to this very day.

When you brew a beer once you've got a good beer, but when you brew a beer twice you've got a great, light beer and that in essence is what krausening is all about.

Sure, we could use shortcuts but we don't, and we won't. Because at Old Style we don't aim to make the most beer, only the best.

That's why Old Style has been fully, that's fully krausened, naturally carbonated since 1853. Try Old Style.

Taste the difference Kraeusening makes.

25,000 to attend national jamboree

The Cahokia Mound Council contingent of 38 Boy Scouts and four adult leaders will leave by chartered bus on Sunday, July 31, to join 25,000 other scouts at the National Scout Jamboree in Marian State Park, western Pennsylvania. Craig Wheeler of Highland, the local jamboree scoutmaster, describes the event as a "once-in-a-lifetime adventure." The seven-day experience, Aug. 3 to 9, will be filled with a wide variety of activities ranging from competition in scout skills to such features as a re-enactment of the first Boy Scout camp on Brownsea Island, England. At the jamboree there will be an "awareness trail" designed to teach physically-challenged scouts to the problems of the handicapped. A science and arts fair also is planned. Nationally-known entertainers will open and close the jamboree with giant campfires and programs.

Spring dean's list totals 825

It's one of those unusual things which an academic researcher perhaps may try to figure out: The spring semester enrollment in any given academic year at Southeast Missouri State University—as at most universities—is lower than the fall semester enrollment. Yet, the number of students who qualify for the dean's list, which recognizes superior academic performance, is almost invariably higher in the spring. This has been the case at Southeast Missouri State (Cape Girardeau) for at least six years and the 1976-77 academic year provided no break in the pattern. Eight hundred and three students made the fall semester honor listing and 825 this spring. To qualify for the dean's list at Southeast, a student must be enrolled full-time and make a 3.5 grade point average (halfway between A and B), with no grade lower than a C. On the spring list are Granite Cityans Phyllis L. Mercer, 2210 Lindell Blvd., and Kim D. Turner, 2427 Waterman Ave. EXPERT APPRAISING NORRIS REALTY CO. 876-4400

Record year for construction of public housing in this state

The Illinois Housing Development Authority achieved a record-high year for fiscal 1977, financing 23 developments in 21 cities, making $86,776,000 in loans, and adding 3,226 units to the state's supply.

The fiscal year ended June 30, the record surpasses the previous high of fiscal 1975, when 17 developments were financed with loans of $75,243,000 but 3,274 units were created, according to IHDA Chairman A.D. Van Meter Jr. of Springfield.

Control measures for lawn diseases

By RON CORNWELL
County Agricultural Advisor
An attractive, beautiful, well-kept lawn is important to most homeowners.
Even with a lot of effort and expense, your lawn may not turn out the way you planned. One reason for a poor lawn may be lawn disease problems.
To help the homeowner with his or her lawn disease problem, we have available at the Madison County Extension Office a publication entitled "Lawn Diseases in the Midwest."
The publication gives a description of common lawn diseases in the Midwest along with recommended control measures. Pictures for identification of the disease are included in the publication.

Some of the diseases covered include Helminthosporium leaf spot, powdery mildew, stripe smut, fusarium blight, rust, fairy ring and slum molds.
Due to early moisture stress on soybeans, soybean cyst nematode has been showing up in bean fields in Madison County.
If you find a field that you suspect as nematode, contact the Extension Office and we will check the field for you.
The other thing you might want to do is bring a sample to the office for identification.
If you would like a race determination to see if you have race 3 or some other race, we will send the sample to the plant pathologist for this determination.
If you choose to get the plant sample yourself, here are some guidelines to follow.
First, collect the soil from the root zone of the growing plants. Do not take samples from dead plants because nematodes will have moved away from those roots. Include the feeder roots in the sample, since many nematodes live inside the plant roots.

Collect soil and roots to a depth of 8 to 10 inches from 10 plants showing moderate symptoms or from the margin of severely damaged areas.
Save only about half a cup of soil with roots from each spot sampled. Mix all the soil collected and bring about one quart to the Extension Office.
Place the sample in a sturdy plastic bag that will not break and keep out of direct sunlight. I will take care of packaging the sample for mailing.
With temperatures hovering near 100 degrees this past week, there has been interest in what effect high temperatures can have on corn.
Ken Hines, associate extension advisor, talked with W. O. Scott, University of Illinois agronomist, about the problem. Scott indicated that a number of conditions need to be present before there is a problem.
The corn that is pollinating during the periods of high temperature is the corn that could be affected.
Some pollination damage could occur if temperatures soared above 100 degrees while corn is under severe moisture stress. As long as there is adequate moisture in the soil, any damage from high temperatures would be minimal.

6,875 in summer classes

With the enrollment of 70 additional workshops yet to be accounted for, student enrollment during the summer quarter at SIUE has already reached 6,875, according to Edward Soliday, assistant director of admissions and records.

Several key changes have occurred in the make-up of this summer's student body and in the course offerings.
This summer—for the first time in at least eight years, if not longer—women students are nearly outnumbered by men. There are 3,619 female students attending classes and 3,256 male students.

While the number of part-time students each summer has exceeded the number of full-time students for several years, the total of part-time students has greatly increased. This summer, there are 4,119 students attending classes at the university part-time, with only 2,736 students going full-time.

Another area in which there has been a noticeable change is in the shortened format of classes. There is a marked increase in the number of courses being offered with workshops. Instead of attending classes one hour each day, or four hours one day each week, workshop classes are conducted for eight hours each day until attendance requirements are met.

Workshops are popular with students, especially in-service teachers who use workshops to upgrade their teaching skills for advancement or their own enjoyment.
"Most students attending the workshops are part-time students, taking only one class, Soliday said.

In offering education courses in the shortened format, the university "attempts to meet both the educational needs of teachers and their need to take a well-deserved rest," he added.

In the past few years, there has been an upswing in travel courses, during which members of a class go on an excursion together and conduct their sessions along the way. SIUE is offering several such courses this summer.

"Students absorb the culture of the region as they travel," Soliday said. "There are some things about nature and the environment you cannot teach in the classroom, not in the way students can learn by experiencing them first-hand."
Another enrollment count will be taken during the first week of August, after registration in the workshops has been completed.

PTA mobilizes for autumn TV

Like many television viewers, PTA members are awaiting the networks' fall lineup of special programs. And for a special reason. They'll be monitoring TV shows as part of the National PTA's First Action Plan, and tabulating the types and amounts of violence that flash across their screens.

Beginning yesterday, the PTA's plan of action is being launched, with intensive day-long training sessions to be held through Aug. 12 in 13 cities. The Chicago session is set for the Conrad Hilton Hotel on Tuesday, Aug. 2.

Purpose of the training sessions is to teach PTA leaders to be trainers themselves so that they, in turn, can train PTA members from their home states in the mechanics of the plan. Attendance at the sessions, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., is by invitation only.

"The networks have issued pre-season statements which suggest that the programming picture is going to change. But whether they have actually responded to the PTA's demand for less gratuitous violence and more quality and diversity remains to be seen," says Grace Baisinger, National PTA president.

"We view the six months from July 1 through Jan. 1, 1978, as a probation period for the networks."

"Through our training sessions, we are going to make certain that, during this time, our members are equipped with all the information necessary to accurately determine if the networks have taken meaningful action toward more innovative, less violent programming," she added.

Two professional trainers and one PTA television commissioner will conduct the sessions, which will focus on three areas: the Federal Communications Commission and the citizen's role in the license renewal process (which includes ascertainment and petition to deny procedures); the broadcasting industry (which will cover everything from describing how TV audience research is done to planning a massive letter-writing campaign directed at TV stations, networks, program advertisers and the FCC, and supplying members with appropriate names and addresses); and the PTA's national monitoring program. The latter will form the basis for development of a TV program identification code that will rate shows by their amount of violence, and will be distributed to PTA members and newsmen.

Training tools for each session will include pamphlets, lectures, films, discussion and simulation.

During the monitoring program, PTA members will use a specially-designed tally sheet to record as violence all incidents in which a human or animal with human-like characteristics:

- 1) Hurts another human, an animal with human-like characteristics, or property.
- 2) Forces action on threat of being hurt or killed.

Types of violence will be categorized: acts of physical violence (fighting, choking, rape); results of physical violence (attacked, wounded, dead); weapons used or threatened (guns, knives, bombs); and violence to property (arson, crashes, vandalism).

Violence done to laws by law enforcement officials will also be tallied (searches without warrants; illegal entry or property seizure).

Commenting on the possibility that sex might replace violence as the staple of next season's shows, Mrs. Baisinger said, "Although the PTA's project has not been directly concerned with sex on television, that subject frequently was mentioned in many of our regional hearings held last winter."

"Under no circumstances will the PTA accept sexually-oriented programs as a substitute for violent programs."

If, after the probationary period, there is no substantial response from the networks, the National PTA will consider alternative courses of action, such as boycotts of advertisers, programs, and stations; selected test cases of petitions to deny licensing; and civil litigation.

Real estate sales course

An evening course for area residents interested in qualifying for the Illinois real estate salesman's licensing exam will be conducted in a new location in Collinsville this August.

The class will start Aug. 4 at the Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge, Rt. 157 and Interstate 55. Basic Real Estate Transactions, a 30-hour course required to be completed for the state licensing examination, will be instructed by Joseph Kelleher, an Edwardsville attorney. The 10-week course will meet on Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. A home study program for those unable to attend classroom sessions is also offered.

Pre-registration is required for the class at (800) 972-8303. COCHRANE SELLS HOMES. CALL 877-3900.

Hudson Ill. government fellowship

Governor James R. Thompson this week announced the names of participants in the 1977 Governor's Summer Fellowship Program, including Thomas Hudson, 2832 Michigan Ave., Granite City, a fellow at the Environmental Protection Agency.

The participants include juniors and seniors in college and graduate-professional students who are Illinois residents. Fellows work for a two-month period, June 15 to Aug. 15, with a minimum salary of $500 per month plus the opportunity to receive college credit and work study assistance.

Of 600 applicants, 85 individuals were chosen to participate in the program. The criteria included academic record, extracurricular activities, letters of recommendation, writing ability and expertise in an area or field.

There are varied fellowship assignments in over 35 participating state agencies, departments, boards and commissions in Chicago and Springfield. Of the 85 in the program, 40 are working in Chicago and 45 in Springfield. Gov. Thompson said, "The goal of the fellowship program is to provide students the opportunity to experience state government internally. We hope this will urge good young people to consider careers in state government and public service."

The program includes weekly seminars on aspects of state government, such as budgeting, reorganization, legislative relations and education. The students also are scheduled to visit a mental health facility on an all-day field trip during the summer. The fellowship program, begun in 1969 under the Ogilvie administration, will make applications available for the 1978 program in March 1978 to all universities and colleges in Illinois.

Art awareness workshop

Brownie leaders will be learning side by side with senior citizens during an art awareness workshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Aug. 1 through 5. Assistant professors Patricia Goehle of the department of speech and Joe Weber of the department of art at SIUE are directing this workshop, which will be team-taught by internationally-known experts in the field of aesthetic education.

The Aesthetic Education Awareness Workshop is offered by the Office of Conferences and Institutes and the School of Fine Arts at SIUE in cooperation with the Illinois Alliance for Arts Education.

The workshop is for parents, teachers, group leaders ranging from those working in church youth groups to senior citizens' centers, and administrators. Weber said the only requirement is an interest in how the arts can be experienced and taught.

Study topics include visual arts, music, creative drama and experiencing the environment.

"We will deal with experiences and activities centered around aspects of responding, creating, producing, sensing and evaluating the arts."

"To conduct the workshop, we are bringing in nationally-known consultants who have written books and articles and conducted conferences in the U.S. and throughout the world," Weber said.

Guest consultants for the workshop are:

- Jean Norman, artist and educator at Loyola University in Chicago. She is the author of "Art of Wonder and of World," "Art Tempo of Today" and "Wonder Under Your Feet." She has worked in the area of aesthetic education for several years.

- Rebecca Rubin, music educator, musician and consultant at the Teachers' Resource Center in Chicago. She has conducted similar workshops in the northern part of the state.

- John Sharpam, creative drama author, specialist, consultant and actor at Illinois State University in Normal. Sharpam is a native Australian who is an expert on the arts in British schools. He has conducted creative drama workshops throughout the world. Prof. Goehle pointed out that a recent Harris opinion poll showed that most Americans want more art education for their children. "The public is saying we want more arts and these type of experiences, but the arts are being cut back in our schools."

"This type of workshop helps people working with children, or with any type of group that wants creative experiences, to develop an effective arts program," she said.

The Aesthetic Education Awareness Workshop will be held Aug. 1 through 5 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Classroom Building III, Room 3201, at SIUE.

Registration costs $25, and students will receive four hours of continuing education credit. Housing can be made available for workshop participants through the Office of Conferences and Institutes.

To register, Quad-Cityans may contact the office of Conferences and Institutes, Box 36, SIUE, 62026 or call 692-2660.

Arrest 3 in trespass case

Three men were charged with criminal trespass to a motor vehicle after John McNall, 2608 Kirkpatrick Homes, surprised a youth in the front seat of McNall's auto outside Miss Kitty's Tavern, 916 Niedringhaus Ave., at 10:55 p.m. Sunday.

McNall was working in the tavern when three men entered and ordered a drink. McNall said the tavern was closed for repainting and the three men left.

Moments later, McNall heard car doors opening and closing in the parking lot and looked outside to see his auto's door slightly ajar.

He opened the door and alleged seeing a youth lying on the seat. The youth jumped up, pushed McNall out and fled east on Niedringhaus Avenue. A red Thunderbird parked behind McNall's auto then drove away and picked up the youth, who was fleeing on foot, and they left east on Niedringhaus Avenue.

A description of the Thunderbird was radioed to all area police and a car matching that description was stopped by Madison police in the 200 block of State Street in Madison.

Arrested were James M. Shumate, 21, of 2047 Alton Ave., Madison; Robert W. Godfrey, 36, of 618 Main St., Venice; and Perrin J. Muir, 50, of 510 Main St., Venice.

Make your sleeping bag a comfortable one

By CATHERINE R. MAUCK

Madison County
Advisor-Home Economics
Camping is fun and an economical way to see the country. But how well you sleep on your camping vacation may depend on how wisely you buy a sleeping bag.

It is important to determine when and where you will be camping before you buy your sleeping bag.

If you plan to camp throughout the year, you will want a bag which is comfortable during the summer and warm during winter months.

The manufacturer's catalog or label should state the temperature range of the sleeping bag.

Sleeping bags are often described by the weight of insulation. A three-pound bag contains three pounds of insulation material.

Because some insulating materials are more efficient than others, the weight is no clear predictor of the potential warmth a bag will provide.

The loft or thickness of the insulation is most important in maintaining a comfortable temperature for the body.

Sleeping bags are generally filled either with down or polyester fill. Down is a good all-season insulation for sleeping bags because it has great resiliency, thickness and minimum weight.

Polyester-fill provides less insulation ounce for ounce than does down, but will dry quickly in damp or wet weather conditions.

A lightweight polyester filled bag will not provide sufficient warmth in the winter but will serve well if camping is limited to summer months or warm climates.

The heavier, polyester-filled bag, fine for cold nights, can be too warm for comfort in the summer.

Because the cost of a polyester bag may be lower than that of a down-filled bag of comparable quality, people may prefer polyester insulation.

If camping is limited to warm weather or if the extra weight required to make the polyester-filled bag serviceable in the winter is not considered a disadvantage, polyester fill may be an obvious choice.

Both down and synthetic bags come in three shapes: Mummy, barrel and rectangle.

Mummy bags are the warmest because they are tapered and completely cover the head except for the face. Their tapered design may, however, make some campers feel cramped.

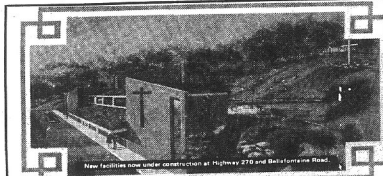

Barrel bags, flared at the middle to provide extra room for knees and elbows, are the second warmest. While rectangles are the roomiest, their non-filled shape makes them the least efficient in holding body heat.

It is important to consider the size of the bag you purchase. It should be large enough to be comfortable.

Sleeping bags come in four sizes: average, extra long, king and child's size. When you find a bag that meets your camping needs, try it on for size to make sure it is comfortable.

If you select your bag carefully, you should enjoy its use for many vacations.
